

DRY CANDIDATES MAY FOLLOW JONES, WALSH

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1930, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—(CPA)—Shall a senator follow his constituency? Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, and Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat, have announced that if the people of their respective states vote by referendum for repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment, they will obey the man date.

This is the most significant progress the prohibition issue has made as yet in the congressional campaign, which is already under way, and provides a convenient strategy for all Republican or Democratic candidates who themselves may be dry but who face wet constituencies.

Thus, for example, Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican, nominee for the United States senate from Illinois, is personally dry and believes in prohibition but probably she will be inclined to accept the referendum method, arguing that prohibition is not a party question. The fact that Senator Jones, an outstanding dry, author of the "five-and-ten" law, recorded himself publicly as being willing to abide by a referendum will give the other Republican drys much encouragement, though the leaders of the dry cause outside of congress are somewhat uneasy over such tactics, believing it affords too much aid and comfort to the wet enemy.

FACE COMPLICATIONS

Election, however, is only a few months off and some of the same dry senators face all kinds of complications from three-cornered primary contests to battles with independent wets or Democratic wets in the final contest.

Whatever one may believe on the merits of prohibition, it was worked its way this year to an issue of prime political importance. The wets are following the group idea and pushing into various state campaigns with all the actual and potential threatening they can do.

Senator Walsh of Montana, is up for reelection. He will have a Republican wet in opposition. Senator Jones saw a Republican state convention take the wet point of view. He thought it was not representative of the sentiment of a referendum could tell. He has remarked since that he is neither urging a referendum nor changing his own point of view about prohibition. Yet, it amounts to a challenge to his state to try a referendum to determine the popular will assuming of course that the minority who vote in elections really reflect popular sentiment.

For a long time United States Senators have been torn between conflicting desires, namely a feeling that they should vote their own convictions or that they should follow the wishes of the people of their states. Then Congress lately has been to subordinate personal conviction and leadership to the will of the state as expressed in conventions or primaries. This is one reason why so many congressmen, personally wet, have voted dry. This has attracted a good deal of attention but only this week have conspicuous examples been given of those who will remain personally dry who may be compelled to vote wet.

ADVENTISTS RESIST CHANGE IN CALENDAR

San Francisco—(AP)—Discussion of how best to combat agitation for a 13-month calendar, was scheduled for continuation today at the forty-second quadrennial convention of the Seventh Day Adventists.

Prof. C. S. Longacre, who discusses the question tonight at a meeting of the religious liberty department, said the 13-month calendar "would mean we would give up our very reasons for being Seventh Day Adventists." The new method of computing time would force a shifting of the denomination's Sabbath day, which is Saturday by present reckoning, it was said.

Ho! for the Life on a Farm

George Tennie from the wide open spaces around Greenville wanted additional help on his farm. So he goes into a huddle with himself and decides to let the Post-Crescent handle the labor situation. A classified ad space immediately thereafter in the Post-Crescent Classified section stating that he wanted a boy over 17 and experienced to work on his farm. — And boys being interested readers of the Classified section, naturally responded immediately. He got a boy but several others were left out in the rain because he could use only one. Dollars to a doughnut though, that these other boys have closed deals with other farmers as other farmers are also regular users of Post-Crescent Classified. So if you need a strapping youth to call hogs or whatever they do on a farm — just let us handle the situation. Phone is 542.

SOLDIER DEAD HONORED BY U. S.

LEGION CHIEF URGES AID FOR DISABLED VETS

Bodenhamer Says Delay in Providing Better Care "Already Too Long"

Brownwood, Texas—(AP)—In the name of the soldier dead, O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American legion, today pleaded for better care of the disabled veterans of the World war.

The delay already has been too long, Commander Bodenhamer declared in a Memorial day address in urging that congress hurry the enactment of legislation along the lines of the original Johnson bill reported to house of representatives by its veterans committee.

"The measure, designed to extend government relief to disabled veterans not now eligible to benefits, was amended by the house before passage April 24 to greatly increase the expenditures originally contemplated, and now is pending in the senate."

Bodenhamer said the legion for the present was asking for no more than provided in the bill as reported to the house, which he estimated would benefit some 84,000 disabled men at a cost of less than $100,000,000. In that form, he said, the legislation likely would receive presidential approval.

"What the disabled need is immediate and material assistance," he said, "and not a lot of idealistic proposals which have no chance of maturing for years. The original Johnson bill is not perfect, but it would give needed assistance. Perfecting amendments could be offered later without endangering the approval of the basic provisions of the Johnson bill."

NEED ATTENTION

"In the name of the dead whose memory is sacred to us, and in the name of the living heroes to some of whom even death would be a relief, may we ask that congress give these disabled heroes the same attention which the American people on this day pay to those who have passed to their reward."

Bodenhamer said the legion favored a hospitalization policy that would anticipate the future requirements of the disabled. It takes from two to three years, he added, to obtain the necessary legislation and build and staff hospitals after the need becomes apparent.

"Last fall at the national convention at Louisville, it was conservatively estimated by experts that there was an urgent need at that time for 30,000 beds, and that the increase in the cases of the mentally sick, alone is 600 per month."

"The disabled veteran has been waiting as best he could, if he still lives."

SAYS LOBBYISTS ONLY PARASITES

Caraway Makes Exception of Groups "Honestly Seeking" Laudable Ends

Washington—(AP)—An assertion that most Washington lobbyists are "simple parasites preying upon the public" was made today by Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby committee in a review of the accomplishments of the committee's seven-month investigation.

As the life of the committee neared an end, Caraway told newspapermen the vast majority of the lobbyists are simply taking advantage of the "cupidity or desire of individuals and groups away from Washington."

"They serve no useful purpose," he asserted, adding that if the public has followed the investigation it will refrain from supporting "these utterly disreputable and selfish interests."

Caraway explained, however, there were groups which were "honestly seeking to bring about helpful legislation or executive action," and he did not intend to reflect upon them.

"All agree," he said, "that every citizen has the right to present his views on any public matter to any branch of the government. To do so is not only a constitutional right but is a right that should be exercised."

"The investigation has given a fairly accurate picture of the leading groups who have infested Washington and sought to influence legislation and executive action for a number of years."

"In most cases it pretty clearly appeared that the chief concern of the lobbyists was to find credulous people and induce them to contribute the funds which were alleged to be accumulated for the purpose of accomplishing ends they professed to seek."

"But in very many instances the contributions found their way into the pockets of the professional lobbyists."

Paris—(AP)—The archbishop of Paris is today suffering from a slight cold which postponed him to his home.

Nanking Foes In Advance, Report Says

Shanghai—(AP)—Strife continued to ravage China today.

While reds surrounded the city of Changchow, 13 miles west of Amoy in Fukien province, unconfirmed reports circulated in Nanking told of new Northern victories along the Hainchow-Tungkaw railroad in northern Honan province.

The victories were described as "smashing" and the Nationalists were reported establishing a second line of defense at Tangshan, a small village 50 miles west of Suchow, while the Northerners advanced eastward. Rumors told of the re-occupation of Kweichow in Northeastern Honan province by the Northerners.

Thousands were fleeing from Changchow, terrorized by the threatening attitude of the Communists, who cut telegraph lines and dug trenches across highways, virtually isolating the city. Fearing an attack refugees were heading toward Amoy and the coast.

Reds also were blamed for the assassination at Amoy of the Fukien province Nationalist opium suppression commissioner, who was an enthusiastic supporter of the Nanking government and a former southern Fukien bandit leader. The murder was charged to political revenge.

Advice from Southern Kiangsi province said the city of Kanchow was still under siege by Communists. Reports said the populace was terror-stricken.

TEN NATIONALISTS HURT DURING SALT PANS RAID

Dharasana, Bombay—(AP)—Ten Nationalist volunteers were taken back to their camp at Untari today on stretchers after a sortie against the salt depot here.

One hundred eleven volunteers participated in the raid. They had reached one of the salt heaps and had started to pick up salt when the police made a lathis charge, injuring several, ten of them badly.

The remainder of the volunteers were dispersed by the lathis, or staves, in the hands of the police and driven outside the boundaries of the depot. They went back to the Untari camp where other volunteers were arriving and sitting around in batches of four or five in the ruins of the camp which the police several times have demolished.

Large numbers of volunteers arriving at Bulsar from various parts of Gujarat are expected at Untari tomorrow to participate in further raids.

Jones And Voigt Battle In Semi-Finals For Golf Crown

St. Andrews, Scotland—(AP)—Bob Jones advanced to the final of the British amateur golf championship this afternoon by eliminating George Voigt, one up.

The open champion of the United States had to come from behind to win from his fellow countryman. Jones was two down at the 13th, reduced his opponent's lead to one with a birdie four at the 14th and squared the match at the 16th with a par four when Voigt was trapped and took five.

The seventeenth was halved in birdie four and then Jones won the 18th to take the match and leave only one match standing between him and the one major champion he never has been able to win.

St. Andrews, Scotland—(AP)—A gallery of three thousand persons assembled for the start of the semi-final match between Jones and Voigt and was rewarded with a great thrill at the first hole when it was halved in birdie three.

The two Americans drove about the same distance, each more than 250 yards. Voigt pitched across the Swician burn and rolled 60 feet past the flag. Jones pitched short and ran to within 15 of the pin.

Voigt holed his downhill putt for a birdie three but Jones came right

LAKEHURST MAY SEE ZEPPELIN SATURDAY

Message from Giant Dirigible Says It Expects to Arrive in Morning

Washington—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin radioed the navy department today it was heading directly for Lakehurst and expected to arrive there Saturday morning.

The message was sent at 5:04 a. m. E. S. T. while the airship was above San Juan, Porto Rico.

It read: "Heading for Lakehurst directly. Expect arrive there Saturday morning."

Porto Rico is approximately 100 miles eastward of the previously charted course of the Graf Zeppelin. The island is, however, on a straight course for Lakehurst as followed by the Zeppelin since leaving Pernambuco.

Observers were unable to form a conclusion as to the Zeppelin's plans upon the basis of the navy wireless report. It would be a simple matter, weather permitting, to swing the Graf slightly westward from San Juan, pointing her over Haiti and up the full length of the island of Cuba.

INDICTED FORMER U. S. OFFICER TO SURRENDER

Seattle—(AP)—A nationwide search for Clifford Taylor McKinley, former assistant United States attorney here, ended today when McKinley telephoned officials and said he would surrender to answer an indictment for alleged corruption in connection with federal liquor law enforcement.

Ed Benn, United States marshal, said McKinley called from a city outside the state of Washington and declared he had been on a fishing trip and had just learned of the indictment, returned this week. Marshall Benn declined to make the name of the city from where the former assistant attorney telephoned.

McKinley was one of five men indicted by the federal grand jury which investigated charges of corruption in liquor law enforcement in the Pacific northwest. The other are Prohibition Administrator Roy C. Lyle, his assistant, Willis M. Whitney; Earl Corwin, chief prohibition field agent, and R. L. Bryant, former agent and later a King County deputy sheriff.

The other defendants have surrendered and declared their innocence.

WOMAN, LAST SURVIVOR OF SNOW TRAP, IS DEAD

Modesto, Calif.—(AP)—Death has taken the last of 15 survivors of a party of 80 persons who were trapped by deep snows in the high Sierra mountains during the winter of 1913.

Mrs. Leona Charity Donner App, 35, last member of the famous Donner party, died late yesterday at Jamestown, west of here. She had been active until recently and last week received Gov. C. Young.

Mrs. App saw her father die of starvation and her mother go insane in the emergency encampment in the deep snows on the edge of what now is Donner Lake, Calif.

She was born in Illinois. Her father, Captain George Donner, was leader of the ill-fated expedition.

FIVE INJURED WHEN FIRE CHIEF'S AUTO CRASHES INTO SEDAN

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—Five persons were hurt, three seriously, when the car of Fire Chief P. M. Cogan crashed into a light sedan when the chief was proceeding to a fire last night.

The sedan was turned over by the force of the impact, its occupants being pinned under the wreckage. The chief's car proceeded on for nearly a block, paused and then went on, witnesses said.

Witnesses dragged the four persons, two of them children, from under the sedan and rushed them to hospitals.

Although his hand and arm were severely lacerated, Ed Cullane, driver for the chief, stuck to the wheel until the fire was reached. There he collapsed.

The injured are Mr. and Mrs. Chris L. Laible and their children, Marion, 4, and Ralph, 6. Mr. and Mrs. Laible and Marion are in serious condition.

NEW CHURCH GROUP HEAD INSTALLED

Presbyterians Consider Many Questions on Public Welfare and Morals

Cincinnati, O.—(AP)—With the Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr of Pittsburg installed as the new moderator, the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. today took up a score of questions which ranged from church reorganization to clerical and amusement.

The commission on bills, and overtures received 22 requests from the various presbyteries to be considered today. One of them, from the Los Angeles Presbytery, asked that the president and congress be memorialized to the effect that the Presbyterian church "believes that the refusal to make a promise to bear arms because of supreme loyalty to God shall not be a barrier to citizenship in the United States," and that the naturalization laws be made to conform to this condition.

Sunday baseball, Sunday motion pictures and cigar advertising which it termed "widespread and unscientific" was protested by the West German synod. The Pittsburg Presbytery asked an investigation of crime as shown in the advertising and programs of motion picture theaters.

The Presbytery of Ozark requested that ministers engaged in evangelistic work be permitted to share in the pension plan.

Dr. Kerr, the new moderator who succeeds the Rev. Cleveland B. McAfee of Chicago, was elected by a two to one majority over his only opponent, Dr. Henry H. Master of Philadelphia, late yesterday. The only avowed fundamentalist candidate, Dr. Samuel G. Crable of Princeton, N. J., withdrew, as did two other prospective candidates, the Rev. Edwin L. McAlvayn of Meadville, Pa., and the Rev. Howard Agnew Johnston of Milwaukee.

A vice moderator to be elected today and chairman chosen for the standing committees.

The principal invitation for next year's conference thus far has come from the Shady Side Presbyterian church, Pittsburg, of which the new moderator has been pastor since 1913.

ROGERS HORNSBY HURT WHILE SLIDING BASE

Chicago—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, was injured during the first game of today's double header with the St. Louis Cardinals and it was feared his left ankle was fractured. He was rushed to a hospital for an X-ray.

Hornsby's injury came in the third inning when he was forced between second and third bases. He attempted to slide into the bag and was blocked in such a manner his leg was twisted. Quick examination in the club house indicated the ankle may be fractured. If so it would mean the loss of Hornsby for all or almost all of the season and put a serious crimp in the championship ambitions of the Cubs.

MEXICAN FLIER PLANS FOR LONG AIR JAUNTS

Los Angeles—(AP)—Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, expects to start for New York tomorrow in a new airplane he plans to use this summer in attempting non-stop flights from New York to Mexico City, and from Bahia, Brazil, to Dakar, Africa.

Boys In Grey Are Honored At Madison

Madison—(AP)—For the first time in history, the south moved to Madison today to pay respects to 145 Confederate soldiers buried at Forest Hill cemetery.

On the grave of each Confederate was placed a marker and an American flag by Mrs. J. M. Burt, Opelika, Ala., president of the Alabama division of the Daughters of the Confederacy and Mrs. J. H. Crenshaw, Montgomery, Ala., honorary life president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Union and Confederate flags at the cemetery are separated by only a few yards. In the Union rest are buried some 200 soldiers.

Most of the dead buried in the Confederate plot were from Alabama. They were part of a detachment of 1,000 brought to Camp Randall here in 1862 after their capture on Islands No. 10 in the Mississippi river. One hundred and forty-eight died before the prisoners were moved from the camp.

One woman of the old south lies buried among the Confederate dead and upon her grave was also placed a marker and flag. In 1865 Mrs. Alice Whiting Waterman, Batesville, La., came here on her own volition and expense to care for the Confederate graves. When she died in 1900 she took her place in the plot to which she had devoted the last part of her life.

Despite repeated requests, the remnants of the Union troops here will not permit a display of Confederate flags. The Stars and Stripes, as in other years, were placed beside the graves of the boys in grey and those in blue attire.

257 VETS' MOTHERS ARRIVE IN FRANCE

Cherbourg, France—(AP)—The third contingent of gold star mothers, numbering 257, arrived here today aboard the Steamer George Washington and will be taken aboard for Paris. Like those preceding them they will visit the graves of their war dead who are buried in France.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchinson of Oakland, Calif., aged 91, led the procession of mothers down the ship's gangplank on the arm of Consul Hauge.

Their trip, they said, was pleasant. Others said that it was the life of the party coming over.

During the crossing the mothers elected Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, aunt of Congressman Jameson of Michigan, to lay a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at Paris. All aboard were presented with medals on which the steamer's likeness had been engraved.

REPORT WAUSAU WOMAN TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Sentinel today said Mrs. Anna Monahan Wendt, prominent Wausau club woman and mother of a 10-year-old daughter, said she should be a Republican candidate for congress from the Eighth district "on a dripping wet" platform. The paper said she would announce her candidacy formally within a few days.

In stating that she would run as a wet, the paper quoted her as saying she favored a repeal of the Volstead act so that her daughter would not be forced to grow to womanhood under conditions prevalent through prohibition.

"I am for bringing back the good old-fashioned pure beer," the Sentinel quoted her, "I don't believe that people are naturally whisky drinkers. I favor the repeal of the Volstead act and I think that each state should have the right of saying whether or not it wants prohibition."

BIG EXODUS FROM COUNTRY TO CITY SHOWN BY CENSUS

Lowering of Rural Population Is General in Northern Wisconsin

An exodus from the country to the city with healthy growth of the majority of Wisconsin cities are shown by federal census returns. In the northern part of the state where depleted forests have caused lumbering towns to dwindle, a lowering of rural population was general, particularly in Ashland, Iron, Price, Bayfield, Washburn, and Vilas counties. Even in the city of Ashland the effect was felt, that city registering a slight loss.

INDUSTRIAL CITIES GROW In the southern and western parts of the state, similar effects were found but are traced to the agricultural depression and the trend noted in most sections of the United States. Several small communities in Kenosha county for example, Iron, Price, Bayfield, Washburn, and Vilas counties. Even in the city of Ashland the effect was felt, that city registering a slight loss.

In the Fox river and Wisconsin river valleys, cities, without exception, showed tremendous industrial growth. On the shore of Lake Michigan, Sheboygan and Manitowoc gained greatly. Eau Claire, in the western part of the state, grew, but Chippewa Falls gained only a few hundred inhabitants.

BANK OF CITIES SHIFTS Returns for three Wisconsin cities have not yet been reported, but the rank of cities already shows a shifting. Most prominent of these is the growth of Madison, which without the stimulus of industry, easily passed Kenosha and ranks third in size. Milwaukee and Racine held first and second places undisputed, but Oshkosh kept ahead of Sheboygan and is still wondering whether it is the growth of Madison, which without the stimulus of industry, easily passed Kenosha and ranks third in size.

Wisconsin cities rank as follows: Milwaukee 568,962; Racine 67,000; Madison 57,815; Kenosha 49,884.

At 11 o'clock similar ceremonies were held in the five great cemeteries outside Paris.

BROADCASTING ON "LIGHT" WAVES IS NEXT RADIO STEP

Stations of Low Power Can Use This System, Engineer Predicts

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—Radio stations of low power, broadcasting on "light" waves, rather than ether waves is foreseen by O. H. Caldwell, former federal radio commissioner, as a means of alleviating the congestion now existing in the broadcast spectrum.

This new possibility is one of the latest developments in the miraculous electronics art—a direct offshoot of radio, according to the engineer-editor. The electronic tube, which is simply a highly developed relative of the vacuum tube used in the ordinary radio receiving set, is this general utilization of art and industry. Activated by light, it is the closest approach to the human brain cell yet devised by man.

Most of the little broadcast stations, which Mr. Caldwell says "clutter up the air around New York and other cities," might better give up their wave lengths and utilize the new light ray method of broadcasting. These little stations of 50 to 100 watts power usually can be heard only about as far as their antennas can be seen, so that the light ray method would cover about the same area as now covered by radio.

Tien, he asserts, "these now wasted wave lengths" would be made available "for great high power stations from whose programs millions would benefit."

In the New York area alone, according to the former commissioner, there are 50 stations, but he says that only six or seven of them are regularly listened to by the discriminating public. "The rest could shut down without a ripple of public attention, but as a substitute they might be offered the alternative of broadcasting over light waves, which could be heard as far as the station could be seen."

This new possible method of eliminating radio congestion in cities Mr. Caldwell explains, already has been successful for communicating with airplanes from flying fields, when the ether is filled with many messages, overtaxing the available wave lengths.

British Score U. S. Films, But Still Pay To See Them

BY MILTON BRONNER

London. — The anti-American film and the anti-English play campaign in certain English newspapers goes merrily on—and the English public still goes merrily on patronizing those same American films and plays. It is one of the great laughs of London.

When British interests got their Parliament to pass a law requiring every movie house to show a certain quota of British made films, War-dour street rubbed its hands with glee. Now they would show 'em. Chiefly they showed 'em by forming new film producing companies and getting the lambs to invest their good old simoleons.

FILMS BELOW STANDARD But the films were quite poor and the patrons of the movies showed impatience. Then the talkies came in and the British concerns were caught totally unprepared. A few have now caught up and are producing talkies, but a number never did get into line and their poor shareholders are holding the bag. Even those concerns which have put out talkies have put out an inferior article. They try to do with pennies what Hollywood does with dollars. It is as if a fellow tried with $25,000 capital to rival Marshall Field and Co. It just can't be done.

Some of the London papers, being super-patriotic, almost made a business of hammering every American talkie that is put on. The story is improbable or old or unwholesome. Those American voices just can't compare with those gentle "refined" English voices, etc., etc. But the answer to these super-patriots must be very disheartening. The stolid Briton goes to see for himself and, if he likes the show, tells his cousins and his aunts and they go and the place is packed. This is not to say that every talkie American sends to London is good. Some of them are punk. But a film like "The Love Parade," starring Maurice Chevalier, has been running for three solid months at one of the finest houses in the town. The big trouble with the British firms is that they do not cut their suit according to their cloth. And they do not try to strike out on original lines. Let America send over several talkies, which are virtually films of revue shows devised at Hollywood with a host of clever singers and dancers, and somebody in England will follow along, doing the same thing on the cheap.

Not a new idea has been developed on this side so far. And, one by

PUPIL ENTERS WORK IN SOAP CARVING CONTEST

Soap carving of a sailor by Ann Russell, done in the regular high school art classes, has been entered in a soap carving contest. A photograph of the piece of carving, in silhouette, is hanging in the art room at Lincoln school. Besides soap carvings, the high school art classes have done distictive work this year in cut paper silhouettes, charcoal drawings, tool-leather work, tea tiles, poem illustrations, pen and ink work, monogram, black printing and posters. Some very finished leather bill folds, purses and belts have been turned out by students, and some of the cut paper silhouettes show exceptional artistry. Because the silhouette work is so delicate, the cutting is done with knives instead of scissors.

FORMER BRAKEMAN
ONE OF SOUTHERN METHODIST BISHOPS

Birmingham, Houston and
San Antonio Pastors
Among Youngest Named

Dallas, Texas—A former railroad brakeman, a son of a college president and a man whose ancestors helped Sam Houston take Texas away from the Mexicans—these are the three men whom the Methodist Episcopal Church South, has just elected bishops.

Gathered from diverse ranks of society, these three are among the youngest ever given bishoprics in the Methodist church.

The most youthful is Dr. A. Frank Smith of Houston, who is only six months past his fortieth birthday. Dr. Arthur J. Moore of Birmingham, Ala., is only a year older, and Dr. Paul B. Kern of San Antonio, oldest of the three, is 47.

Dr. Moore is the bishop who began his career as a railroad.

Born at Waycross, Ga., the son of a builder of railroad bridges, he drifted naturally into railroad work, married at 19 and never dreamed that he would one day be a bishop of the church.

CONVERTED AT REVIVAL

"I drifted into an old-time revival in Waycross back in 1904 with a friend of mine. He and I paid little attention to what the minister, Rev. Charles M. Dunaway, of Atlanta, was saying. We remained indifferent while he called for the penitent to come to the altar. That night after we left my church was killed. The next night I returned to the meeting and I answered the call to the altar. My life was completely changed from then on."

Although he had two children, Dr. Moore promptly left his job on the railroad and became a circuit rider in the southern Georgia Methodist conference. A Mrs. L. M. Thorpe, seeing the possibilities of a leader in the eloquent young preacher, induced him to go to Emory University and get an education. He did so, and after his graduation became one of the south's most noted evangelists. His success won for him the pastorate of the fashionable Travis Park Methodist Church at San Antonio, where he preached until called to the Birmingham church.

An average of 60 members a year has been added to the Birmingham church since he took the pulpit there.

A STRICT FUNDAMENTALIST

Dr. Moore is a strict fundamentalist.

"We hear too much of the 'blessings of moderation' and the 'dangers of fanaticism,'" he says. "We must live at white heat. Preaching must become a romance of daring enthusiasm. We need a gospel, not of the survival of the fittest, but of the revival of the spirit."

Kern succeeded Dr. Moore in the pulpit of the San Antonio church and there were many who shook their heads and predicted failure for the man who succeeded such a brilliant preacher. But presently Dr. Kern was winning a success equal to Dr. Moore's.

His father, Dr. John Adam Kern, taught homiletics in Randolph-Macon College, on whose campus the new bishop grew up. The father later was president of Randolph-Macon, and eventually became professor of practical theology at Vanderbilt University. Dr. Kern was ordained to the ministry in 1902, became a member of the faculty of Southern Methodist University, and in 1926 went to the San Antonio church.

As his election to a bishopric was announced he was broadcasting by radio an appeal for the adoption of an educational report which he was submitting to the Methodist conference.

"I would rather see that report adopted than to have been elected bishop," he said. "It means more to the church than my election does."

Dr. Smith, the third member of the trio, is a Texan from the ground up, tracing his ancestry to the men who fought at San Jacinto and the Alamo. He organized and was first pastor of the Highland Methodist Church at Dallas, served later as pastor of the University Methodist Church at Austin, and from there went, successively, to the pulpits of Laurel Heights Methodist Church and the First Methodist Church at Houston.

Nation's First Gold Star Mother Looks
Back On Big War With Mingled Emotions

Glidden, Iowa — With a smile on her lips and an ache in her heart, a gray-haired woman, who was one of the first two of the nation's Gold Star mothers 12 years ago, looks back on the war this Memorial Day with the mingled emotions that only a mother can understand.

The smile is one of pride, for her boy died a hero—honored by a nation hallowed by history as one of the first three American soldiers killed in action in the World War. The ache in her heart is the price that motherhood pays for a martyred son.

But Mrs. Carrie L. Hay—mother of Private Merle D. Hay, 21, of Company F 16th Infantry, slain Nov. 3, 1917, in the German's first raid on American trenches—is of the Spartan sort.

"Nothing," she says, "could ever make me feel sorry for Merle, because I am proud. He gave his life for his country. I have another son and if war should come again tomorrow I would proudly let him go."

Her voice was calm, but her eyes were moist.

Private Hay's death is written in history, and with his own blood. So are the deaths of Corporal James B. Gresham, of Evansville, Ind., and Private Thomas F. Enright of Pittsburgh, Pa., who fell beside him near Bathelmont, France in the foggy dawn of that November morning.

The tanks had moved up to the front line only a few days before. There was a barrage and then the Germans came over. There was fierce hand-to-hand fighting in the American trenches, but the line held. When the invaders withdrew, Hay, Enright and Gresham were dead.

It is impossible to tell which of the three was the first to die, but Private Hay had been shot under the right eye and apparently killed instantly. Enright and Gresham had been stabbed with bayonets.

Mrs. Hay, who still lives on the little farm near here where Merle was reared, tells how she got the news.

"I was fixing a box of Christmas things for my boy—we had to ship them early, you know—when the telephone rang," she relates.

"It was an Omaha newspaper calling. They wanted to know my boy's name and initials. They asked a lot of questions... and then they told me."

Mrs. Hay collapsed at the telephone, according to newspaper dispatches at that time, but her husband, D. W. Hay, took the conversation.

"If my boy had given up his life for his country, I am proud of him," the older Hay said, slowly.

Young Hay was buried in France. Enright and Gresham beside him. Over their grave the French government erected a monument; a German air raid was in progress at Nancy, less than 10 miles away, on the day and at the moment it was dedicated.

Translated into English, the inscription carved on the shaft by the French read:

Here in the soil of Lorraine rested the first American soldiers killed facing the foe, on Nov. 3, 1917: Corporal J. B. Gresham (of Evansville); Private Thomas Enright (of Pittsburgh); Private Merle D. Hay (of Glidden). Worthy sons of their great and noble nation, they fought for Right, for Liberty, for Civilization, against German Imperialism, the scourge of mankind.

Mrs. Hay is the only surviving mother of the three. Enright's mother died before he enlisted; Gresham's mother passed on a few years ago.

Among her souvenirs that Merle Hay's mother treasures today is a tiny replica of this battlefield monument, presented to her by Ambassador Jusserand, war-time French envoy to the United States.

"Dad and I have all our boy's letters, his identification tag, his watch and his trinkets," Mrs. Hay relates. "His last letter to us arrived the day after we received the news of his death. I treasure it more than I do my life."

"Dad keeps the watch with him. Always. I gave it to Merle as a reward on his 16th birthday, for not smoking. But my boy did not want

HE SAID GOODBYE
TRAINING CAMP

Mrs. Carrie L. Hay is shown above with her son, Private Merle Hay, 21, who was killed in the first engagement between German and American troops in the World War—in a trench raid near Bathelmont, France, in the foggy dawn of the morning of Nov. 3, 1917.

to accept the watch because, he said, he did not deserve it; he told me he had been smoking since he was 14.

Merle was no different from any other boy and Mrs. Hay no different from any other mother. As a youngster, she made him comb his hair and wash behind his ears when he couldn't see any sense in such things, kissed him when she tucked him in bed at night, nursed him tenderly through those sicknesses of childhood, spanked him when he needed it, love him, worshipped him, and watched him with secret admiration as he grew toward sturdy manhood.

"My boy failed to come home on the night of May 2, 1917, telephoning me that he and eight others were on their way to Des Moines to enlist in the war," she relates.

Thrilled by the prospect of war, Merle came back to Glidden a few days later to say farewell to his mother, dad and younger brother. Then he departed for camp at Fort Worth, Texas, and on June 13 he sailed for France from Hoboken, N. J.

The last time his mother saw him was when he kissed her goodbye in Glidden that day in May 13 years ago.

It is not necessary for Mrs. Hay to go to France with other war mothers to visit her boy's grave, because his body was brought back long ago and now rests near the farm home that he left to go away to war. Just recently at Glidden, a little hamlet on the Lincoln Highway, a handsome memorial to Private Hay and his two companions was dedicated by the American Legion.

Private Hay now sleeps in a small cemetery near his monument.

"No," says Mrs. Hay, "there's no need for me to go to France. I have my boy with me. He's buried just over yonder among those pines."

How To Shop

By William H. Baldwin

When a furrier gets a fur neck-piece he holds it by the brush, or tail, head downward, and finds a great deal.

He looks to see whether the scarf has plenty of top hair, which adds immeasurably to the fur's wearing qualities, or if the fur looks singed. He feels the brush to see if the tail is whole and not broken. He looks at the size of the fur and the richness of the color.

Then he folds the neckpiece over his hand to see whether it "breaks." A good fox fur should look smooth and rich even when folded over, but a "leatherized" fox fur will look ratty, cheap, dead. In such furs, the manufacturer had cut the skin into narrow crosswise strips and sewed strips of leather between them, thus doubling or tripling the length of the original skin. The furrier never forgets to look at the head. Rarely will a poorly shaped or imitation head be on a good fur.

NEW PLAN ASSURES
FERTILIZER SUPPLY
AT MUSCLE SHOALS

Reese Measure Limits Profit to Manufacturer at 8 Per Cent

Washington —(P)—The Reese plan for private operation of Muscle Shoals, adopted by the house military affairs committee in preference to the senate-adopted Norris resolution for government operation, provides for a constant supply of 2500 tons of fertilizer.

It still is a point of debate whether fertilizer would be produced as cheaply as under government operation, but the profit to the manufacturer is limited to 8 per cent.

A prescribed amount of nitrogenous plant food to be produced annually is to be set by the board of three members. The President would appoint for consummation of the lease.

However, the proposed plan makes mandatory the manufacture of 10,000 tons of fixed nitrogen within three years and six months of the date of the lease and requires periodic increases as market demands justify.

In fixing a maximum production capacity, the leasing board would be guided by the amount economically adapted or susceptible of being made economically adapted to the fixation of nitrogen, if the reasonable demands of the market shall justify it.

The sale price would be computed

Rubber Tapping Holiday To Stabilize Market Says Perry

New York —(P)—A unique effort to stabilize the crude rubber market will be witnessed in May when a tapping holiday is declared by British and Dutch growers who produce half of the world output.

American opinion, as viewed by G. E. Perry, vice president of the New York rubber exchange, is that the measure will produce, at best, only a temporary steadying of the market.

Perry estimated that cessation of tapping by the Dutch and British growers would result in a decrease of 30,000 tons, about four per cent on the 8 per cent profit, the cost of production including the rent paid to the government for use of equipment and 6 per cent on any capital invested by the lessee in improvements to existing plants or in additional plants used for the manufacture of fertilizer.

Preference in sales would be given first to farmers and cooperative organizations of farmers.

of the estimated world production of 500,000 tons for 1935.

There is prospect, he said, that the Dutch and the British may initiate another month-long holiday later in the year if the May cessation is not successful in raising prices.

The situation is complicated by the fact that approximately 50 per cent of the rubber grown in the far east is raised by individual natives who are not participating.

The United States, largest buyer and consumer of rubber in the world will watch the effort to curtail production from the sidelines.

American rubber interests controlling only three per cent of the world production refused to take part.

Resinol Heals
Stubborn Unsightly
Rash on Baby's Body

"At the age of 3 months there appeared on the buttocks and behind the ears of my baby a very irritating and unsightly looking rash. Many remedies were prescribed and all were used faithfully without obtaining any but temporary results. Harassed by the untold discomfort caused the baby as well as the increased unsightliness I began, on the recommendation of a friend, to use Resinol Ointment. Immediately marked improvements were noted, and now, at the age of 10 1/2 months, the child is without the slightest trace of his trouble." (Signed) Mrs. J. G. Resmer, Cobrocton, O. Braids and bodies of these straws are the pick of the world markets. Experts deftly shape them into hats well abreast of the style trend. This year the sweep of the brims is smarter and the crowns mount becomingly higher. Silk bands are in deep shades, either plain or striped.

Inside, as well as out, SOLAR stylists make strict demands. Sweat bands must be soft, yielding easily to the form of the head. Linings and details of finish must never swerve from a superior standard.

All this, because SOLAR straw wearers must know they are smartly correct!

MEMORIAL DAY, 1930

Men are marching on many streets today. Old men whose battle songs make faint music now, and young men whose lips still whistle the tunes that brought courage when they followed the flame of a scarlet banner in an alien land, are keeping step again. The spirit of crusade has come back for a little while and age and youth seek the accolade that comes to those who go forth to right a wrong. The streets down which they come and the thronging crowds fade away, and the soldiers take dim trails again, as the bands strike up the martial challenge.

Across the Argonne, Chateau Thierry, Soissons, down Flanders way men march again, mud-caked, bruised, bleeding, going to death perhaps—but going unafraid. Khaki lines swing by to keep a tryst with yesterday. And as they march thin lines of older men, in faded blue or gray, catch the same refrain and follow tattered flags across the field to Gettysburg, Vicksburg and other famous, half-forgotten fields. Their trail is a longer one. Weeds have made a tangled way across the path they took when their suits were new and their steps were sure. But the goal they sought is as shining as that which their sons and grandsons fought to win in the wars that have followed.

There will be a hush in the waiting crowd and the drums will be muffled sometimes while a bugle sings a requiem for those who do not march today. There will be tears in many eyes for men who lie in the graves on which loyal hands have placed their flowers, and for another group which sleeps in green beds where poppies make a crimson riot. Through the ages there has been a thrill to marching men. Ever since the first knights went forth, steel clad, to seek the Grail, high exultation has gone with those who fought a good fight.

But today words of peace are coming with startling clearness as they pierce the smoke from thousands of years of battles. After all, there can be little happiness in any drama, splendid though its stage, if there are tears when the curtain falls. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend," we have been told. However, if a way is found which will permit men to live that life for others there will be greater rejoicing as the parades go by. "Peace on earth, good will to men," makes a mighty challenge. It was to fulfill its prophecy that the men who march today once went to war.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

The personnel director of the New York Stock Exchange recently told an organization of business and professional men that the country faces a shortage of properly trained executives. One of the great problems of the hour, he said, is adult inefficiency. Now adult inefficiency probably can be overcome by education, but it will be a harder task to increase the number of able executives—or leaders.

There is much talk of training for leadership. Potential leaders should have special training and education, no doubt. The man at the top should know the business from the ground up, but knowing the business will not make him a good executive unless he possesses also certain innate qualities of leadership. Leaders, on the whole, are born rather than educated, and they develop through the influence of circumstances and events rather than through special training. Therefore, if the country really faces a shortage of executives it may be because there is less in our civilization than formerly to bring out initiative, resourcefulness, vision and courage—the qualities of a true leader-executive.

A NATION OF TOURISTS

You get something of a conception of the extent to which the American people go touring about in their autos every summer when you learn that the roadside do a total business of around $500,000,000 a year. This figure is furnished by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce. He finds that there are now between 110,000 and 125,000 roadside stands; that more than half of them keep open all the year around and that new ones are being added at the rate of 3000 a year.

Half a billion dollars is a sizable turnover for any business. The hot dog stand is pushing its way up into the rank of major industries. Some organizing genius probably will come along presently and loop a few thousand of these establishments into one vast, coast-to-coast chain; meanwhile the industry, unique in a land of great mergers, is composed of innumerable small, one-man concerns—a new field for individualism in the business world.

It isn't the size of this business that is interesting, however, so much as it is the meaning back of it. The number of tourists must be stupendous for the hot dog and pop sales to rise to half a billion dollars. That sales figure reflects a spread of the vacation habit greater than anything the world has ever known before. The surface of the earth has been pretty well furrowed, in the course of history, by the migrations of its peoples; but was there ever anything like this annual migration of Americans and Canadians? Millions of men, women and children go roving every summer. They make the wanderings of the romantic gypsies look puny. They cover a whole continent.

Dwellers in the interior go spinning off to see what the oceans look like; coast folk swing over the mountains and have a look at the midlands. Mountains and lakes and rivers and sea beaches and deserts slide under the wheels of a million cars, and provincialism goes out of existence under a million sets of rubber tires. The whole nation shuffles itself each year, and Mr. Average Citizen, perched behind his steering wheel, does more traveling in one month than his ancestors did in all their lives—and does it in incomparably greater comfort. And—just to set the picture in its real proportions—the incidental food and drink bill of these roving tourists comes to half a million dollars.

On top of this we have the annual pilgrimage of Americans abroad, which is increasing rapidly each year. Hundreds of thousands of citizens go to Europe alone every year and our travelers are to be found in every part of the globe today. All of this travel, which is highly educational, is very beneficial to the nation. It broadens our national perspective like nothing else can do. There never has been anything remotely like it before. We are outclassing the British themselves with our exploring instinct. Its ultimate effect can hardly be estimated but we may be sure it will be present. The American spirit, 50 years hence, will be infinitely richer because of this background of wandering.

AMATEUR GAMBLERS LOSE

In the bear movement last month there were about three quarters of a billion dollars squeezed out of stock exchange values. One of the business reviewers, analyzing the situation, concludes that it was not the wolves but the lambs that were slaughtered in that fight. His reasoning seems to hold good of subsequent slaughter early in the present month.

Brokers' loans were increasing rapidly. Stocks apparently were passing rapidly from strong to weak hands. "Investors were liquidating and speculators were being sucked in. And from the crowds that assembled daily in the board rooms, it would be inferred that the public participation was becoming extensive just before the break."

So the gamblers seem to have lost again in large numbers, especially the amateur gamblers. After another experience or two of the same sort, some of them may decide to play safe—if they have anything left to play safe with.

Julius Caesar had three wives, according to Roman law.

EVERY time it rains (and it's raining as we write this) we have the darnedest time trying to get past this first paragraph. The Kitchen Cynic has often suggested that we cut it out and throw it away, and, in an undertone, thinks it might not be a bad idea if we tried that system all the way down the column. Ho-hum, the pathway of a columnist is not so easy.

We, since the announcement was made of airplane rides at one cent a pound, have been on a strict diet. There are two reasons—we gotta cut down on weight so we can afford to go up, and we've gotta save money for it somehow or other. Adonis, who weighs the scales down to the tune of about two hundred pounds has decided that he doesn't like aviation anyway.

Today's Anniversary

CAPTURE OF STONY POINT

On May, 30, 1799, the British, under Sir Henry Clinton, took possession of Stony Point on the Hudson and began at once to fortify it.

Washington, who was at that time defending New York, saw in Clinton's move an attempt to get control of the Hudson by slow approaches. With this in mind he determined to check the advance by striking at the new post.

Accordingly, he sent for Anthony Wayne and asked him if he would storm Stony Point. Tradition says that Wayne replied, "I will storm hell, if you will plan it." Washington planned, and on July 15, Wayne stormed the point in what one historian called "one of the most brilliant results in history."

With more than 600 of their men taken as prisoners, their guns seized and works destroyed, the British had to give up hope of getting control of the Hudson. A subsequent attempt of Clinton to lure Washington away from the Hudson by sending marauding expeditions into Connecticut likewise failed.

A GOLD STAR LETTER.

I am taking this opportunity to thank you for what you have done for me in the last five or six years, writes an Idaho reader. About five years ago I had a white spot on my lip which looked just like a splash of white paint. It wasn't sore at all, so it didn't worry me until it had been there for six months or more and seemed to be spreading. I work for a corporation. I showed the company doctor my lip and he said it was only a little irritation and didn't amount to anything. I thought a doctor ought to know, so I paid no more attention for a month or so. Then I saw an article of yours in the paper warning people to beware of white spots about the mouth. I became alarmed.

Which reminds the conductor of another instance in which something in this column alarmed a reader so much that he went straight to a doctor for examination. The doctor found that the trouble was not malignant, and the reader was so mad that he took certain steps which eventually made me feel the lash of his wrath. But I don't care. Let our reader friend continue his story.

I became alarmed and went to see another doctor who examined the lip and pronounced it cancer. I wasn't satisfied even then, and visited two more doctors who both agreed with the first. Then I had a doctor treat it with radium, and it sloughed away and has never returned. I saw a surgeon about it only yesterday and he tells me he believes it is gone for good.

So I have only you to thank for the fact that I am still living. . . . There's one time when God and I do not share the credit. As a rule you thank God, and if there is anything left after that, I may get it. But let that pass. The Idaho reader will now conclude with a mighty pleasant remark.

I truly believe that your daily column in the paper is doing more to educate people against their most formidable enemy, ignorance, than you can possibly realize.

Believe me when I say that I feel very grateful for the advice which saved my life.

Your friend,

This is a very precious letter, one of the class I call GOLD STAR LETTERS. I published another GOLD STAR LETTER here two years ago, from a mother who told how the description of Schaefer's pneumonia resuscitation she had found in this column had enabled her to resuscitate her little son when she found him in a pond near the home. A GOLD STAR LETTER is one that tells how knowledge obtained in this column has proved life-saving in its application.

Of course the Idaho man might have recovered just the same had he never seen my column. Something else might have brought him into the hands of a good doctor before the cancer became too far advanced for a cure. Be that as it may, I am proud of the letter, which shall occupy a special place in my scrapbook.

If any other readers are fooling with obstinate spots or sores on the lip, that refuse to heal in a few weeks at longest, I hope they'll be alarmed enough to go to a good doctor at once.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
What's a Diagnosis Between Friends?

Evidently you did not read all of my letter. I do not ask you to diagnose my case but just to advise me. (Mrs. A. H.)

Answer—But that's beyond the power of a mere physician, Madam. In order to give you the advice you request, I should have to understand what ails you, and I can't even form an opinion about that without having examined you. It would not be fair to you.

The Cure of Rupture (Hernia).
It there any sure cure for a small rupture besides the knife? If so what do you recommend? (R. R. J.)

Answer—So called rupture, hernia or breach is a protrusion or bulging at some point, due to poor development, or a weakness in the muscle wall injury. As a rule the protrusion occurs at some point that is congenitally weak. Small and recent ruptures may be cured spontaneously within a few months if properly supported, but such cure is not to be expected when the rupture has been present a year or longer. In recent or slight hernia, especially when it is "reducible," that is, readily replaced, simple exercises faithfully carried out while the weak place is supported by your hand, may bring permanent cure. Any one with hernia or rupture of more than a year's standing should undergo surgical treatment as a matter of safety, comfort and efficiency.

Have You Flat Feet or Weak Feet?
I am having a lot of trouble with my feet and as my work requires long hours on my feet I wonder if you will recommend some kind of special shoes or arch braces for me. . . . (Miss D. H.)

Answer—Try this test: Stand barefoot on floor and see if you can raise yourself up on your toes. If you can your feet are not flat, and braces would be injurious. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for instructions for care of feet and proper footwear. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE man who owned the reindeer came and said, "Well, lads, I do not blame you for the way you stare at them. They're quite a pleasing sight. You see but few, I understand, and they are wild, in your home land. But here we need them badly and they're plentiful all right."

"Well, just what do you need them for?" asked Scouty. "Look here come some more. And, my, what monstrous horns they have. I'd like to own a set. The reindeer all look mild enough and I don't think that they'd be rough. It sure would be a lot of fun to own one as a pet."

"Why, say, they are much more than pets," the man replied. "This country gets good milk and food and other things of value all year long. From reindeer skins real clothing is made and it is of a lasting grade. From antlers we make heavy hold racks and they are mighty strong."

"The reindeer act as beasts of prey. They earn their food from day to day and, all in all, they mean a lot to people living here." And then he told each Tynymite, "Go up and pet one. It's right. You'll find them very gentle and there's not a thing to fear."

The Tynmites then felt very bold and promptly did as they were told. And then the Travel Man said, "Well, hop back into our car. We're bound for Sweden now, you know. I think it best, lads, that we go. A dandy ride's ahead of us, although it's not so far."

They rode awhile and then they saw a sight that filled them all with awe. A tent, made out of reindeer. Some Lapland tots stood just outside. The Travel Man then loudly cried, "Come on, lads, we will meet them." So the Tynmites gathered 'round.

(Clowny has some fun with a Lapland tot in the next story.)

The Western League magnates who introduced night baseball in Des Moines recently under artificial light probably thought that was the best way to bring out the stars.

"If the lower animals could devise a religion," says Dean Ince, "they would certainly represent the devil as a great white man." But why "great"?

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Members of the house never have quite so much fun as they do when Percy Edwards Quin arises to address them.

Percy is the big-voiced, hard-hitting gentleman from Mississippi. He has been in congress something like 16 years, during which time he has come to be known as one of the most colorful men on the hill.

He is colorful because no one knows what he will do next. He is as liable to rip off his collar in the midst of an impassioned speech as not—his, in fact.

Just the other day, during consideration of the conference report on the tariff bill, Percy staged one of his shows. He had the house convulsed over so prosaic a subject as cement.

When he gets up to speak, he is greeted with thunderous applause. But invariably his colleagues quiet down that they may hear his numerous cracks. His speeches are punctuated with cries of "Louder" and gales of laughter and applause, but he is heard.

POSTURE

The posture Percy assumes while speaking is one of magnificence. His right foot is forward, left back. His body is inclined backward. He likes to stride up the aisle and slap the knee or shoulder of a colleague to emphasize some point he is trying to make.

"I want to brush aside some of this folderl which has been injected into this debate" is a characteristic expression. And he proceeds to do so.

"The gentleman from North Dakota ought not to display his lack of knowledge," he will shout. "My friend from New Jersey argues in a circle; a man of his abilities should not attempt to fool us," he will say with great vehemence.

His personal appearance is a great help on such occasions. His red hair is short. His figure is powerful.

FACETIOUS

The ranking minority member on the house military affairs committee, Percy has a knack of delaying or killing these bills to which he is opposed by introducing facetious amendments.

Not so long ago an attempt was made in the house to enact legislation which would make a person, who circulated harmful information about the status of a national bank, subject to prosecution. Percy couldn't see the justice in it.

"Boil words! Cause banks to bust," he snorted, "not what people say about them."

So he got busy and proposed an amendment making the president of a bank who gave out harmful in-

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY RICHARD MASSCOCK

New York—In his upstart studio a thin, Hungarian coughs over what he believes to be the lost secret of Stradivarius, master of the world's fiddle makers.

He is Julius D. Horvath and his life has been prolonged to the 70-year mark by the contents of a row of medicine bottles while he waits for a chemist to give him new found formula to the world.

So sure is he that the violin varnish he has evolved and tested in 40 years of research is the same as that which Antonio Stradivarius used that he is offering it free as his life achievement.

He will die content if he can leave as his only memorial the "Horvath formula" for recapturing the violin's perfect tone.

STRADIVARIUS' SECRET
His stricken body is testimony to the long years over his fuming kettles of oils and acids.

Born in Hungary in 1861, he came in America in 1890 to play the violin in Hungarian gypsy orchestras. As a boy he made violins in his spare time. When he was 20 his parents sent him to Paris to study the art.

It was not long, therefore, until he was in the violin trading business in New York, selling rare old instruments to such wealthy patrons as H. O. Havemeyer, Edgar Mills, John W. Coghessall of Providence, R. I., Barton Rhea Willing of Philadelphia and Charles Cole of Elkins Park, Pa.

Still he longed to rediscover "the lost art of violin making," while organizing the American Violin Trade association, sponsoring promising young artists and arranging recitals. To carry out his dream he studied chemistry.

In 1924 he introduced his first formula, a filling process widely heralded. But the varnish still was unsatisfactory. Then last year the constant inhalation of the fumes, gases and volatile oils had so affected his health that he was forced to rest.

This time he spent outlying in his mind his last formula. A few months ago he ignored the doctors' warnings and prepared the first batch of his new discovery.

Its base a bees-wax and he has a quartet of instruments varnished with the substance, chemically prepared and dried by his process.

Others have sought and thought they found the secret of Stradivarius. Horvath is confident of this process. And although it cost him $300,000 in materials and fiddles thrown away, he insists he wants nothing for it but the fame.

PROPAGANDA
When the fleet came in, the police along Riverside drive had extra cars.

Not that the sailors off the war-boats in the Hudson caused trouble themselves. First it was the boot-leggers, who passed out printed directions where to buy liquor and the police.

Hardly had a pair of these been fined $10 apiece before a 17 year old girl stood by and gave the suspicious sailors pamphlets urging them to desert the navy and join, of all bodies, the red army.

BARBS

What's become of the man who used to read classics from the five-foot shelf riding to work each morning?

"The first 100 yards are the hardest," said the community committee during clean-up week.

"251-Year-Old Chinese Places Faith in Horbs, headline. At least the president knows somebody has faith in . . .

With so many men available for service, what ever has become of the famed "General" Coxey?

formation about the financial status of an individual subject to prosecution as well.

And he succeeded in having the objectionable amendment withdrawn.

On the floor, Percy spends most of his time in the democratic cloak-room smoking his long-stemmed pipe and gossiping with his colleagues. He rarely misses a roll call. In fact, his zeal in this respect has often made him the butt of joking friends. One, who has a voice easily mistaken for McDuffie, the democratic whip, delights in seeing Percy bound into the chamber on a fake call.

WITH heads bowed, we recall tales of courage and sacrifice, accounts of battles won and lost by a nation that has ever upheld humanity's highest ideals.

We place wreaths of homage at war-rrior graves, and salute the heroes who live. May our ritual be more than a gesture. May it be a prayer for peace—today and tomorrow.

EIGHT CIVIL WAR VETERANS GUESTS OF KIWANIS CLUB

Rev. Ralph A. Garrison Is Principal Speaker at Wednesday's Program

Eight Civil war veterans from Appleton, Kaukauna and Neenah were guests of Appleton Kiwanis at a Memorial day dinner and program at Conway hotel Wednesday. They were William H. Priest, Leonard Merkel, Stephen Meldam and G. "Grandpa" Langstadt, of Appleton, Robert Law, Murray McCallum and Thaddeus Sheerin, of Neenah and John Law, Kaukauna.

The noon program opened with a dinner and was followed by several five and drum numbers which revived in the old vets thoughts of earlier days. Even playing of "Dixie" was well received by the youngsters who straightened up like youngsters at the rattle of the drums.

The principal speaker was the Rev. Ralph A. Garrison who paid tribute to the guests, recalled the history of Memorial day, how, oddly enough, it originated in the south when at Columbus, Miss., three southern women visited a big Confederate cemetery and paid tribute to their dead soldiers, also honoring the Union men who were buried in the same plot.

Speaking of the Civil war and its results, Rev. Garrison said that at the time it was considered the most momentous tragedy in the history of the world, because it featured Americans against Americans and in many cases brothers against brothers.

"The question of slavery had been a sore in the side of the country and the Civil war was to be a serious surgical operation removing that sore and giving the country new health and build up a spirit of unity. To the south it was therefore a blessing," Rev. Garrison said, "to bring about greater prosperity and improved economic conditions."

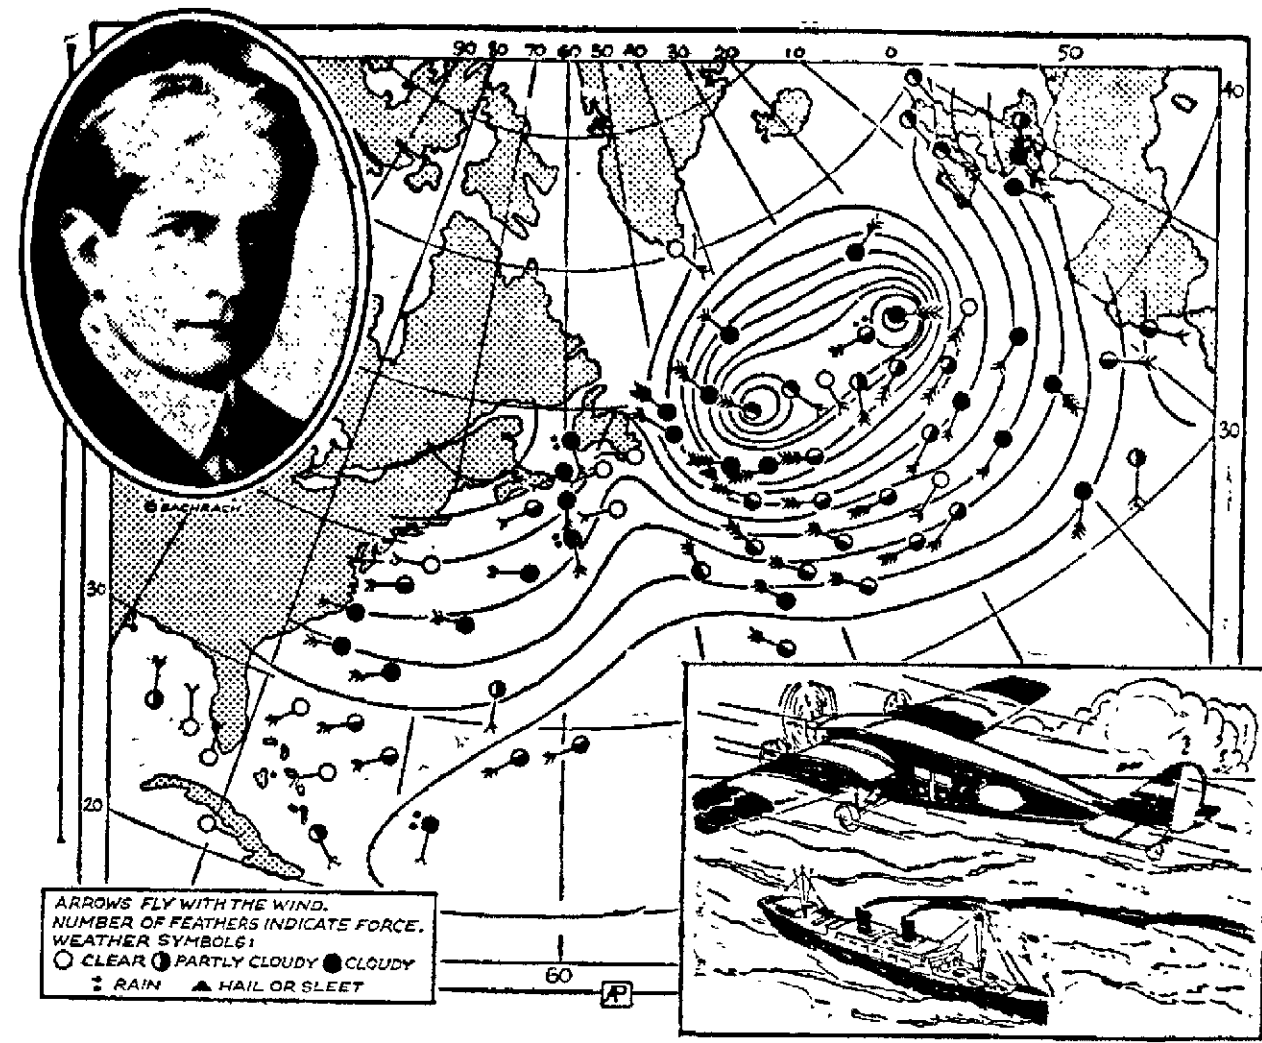

Present day generations received from the Civil war a rich heritage which it is their duty to pass on to future generations. Rev. Garrison said in closing his talk after paying honor to Abraham Lincoln and his attitude toward the South which was best brought out in that part of the Gettysburg address in which he said his policy was "with malice toward none and charity to all."

New Weather Service Will Help Pilots In Pending Flights Across Atlantic Ocean

Weather chart of November 25, that looks like an octopus, showing the winds always against west-bound planes in the north Atlantic. Inset shows Dr. James H. Kimball, ocean weather forecaster.

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
New York —(AP)— The non-stop planes now lining up again in Europe to try the hitherto almost certain death westward flight across the North Atlantic have a new ally.

This is new weather service, started in May, 1930, that plans the first complete ocean forecasting. In its files here are pictures that explain better than words why but one westbound non-stop plane has crossed the North Atlantic, while eight have made it in the other direction.

Take, for illustration, one of these pictures, the weather map of the North Atlantic on November 25 last, made during preliminary organization.

The lines that mark the course of the winds trace a vast shape, that looks like a devil fish filling the ocean from Newfoundland to Ireland.

Its eyes are two whirling cyclones set one-third the distance out from each shore. Its tentacles swing southward to the Azores and north nearly to Greenland.

On it the thing which swallowed the westbound fliers without trace, from the French ace Nungesser to Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and the Hon. Eisle Mackay, is apparent. It is a steady rush of air toward Europe.

Though from locality to locality its direction changes, yet its average is always into the teeth of the westbound plane, with a range from 10 miles an hour up to raging gales. It flows like the Gulf stream centering above the steam, though immensely wider, and subject to swings of nearly 1000 miles.

Westbound planes bucking even the mildest of these currents, cut down 10 miles an hour, and often far more. These figures must be multiplied by two to obtain the actual disadvantage.

The effect gives the westbound flier a far wider ocean to cross, as if the American coastline were pushed back nearly to Chicago.

The new ocean forecasting can warn of tempests that sometimes develop from nothing even during the few hours a crossing plane takes.

KEWAUNEE COMPANY GETS RATE REBATE

Commission's Decision Gives $563 to Manufacturing Firm

(Post-Crescent Wash. Bureau)
Washington — The Kewaunee Manufacturing Company will receive $563.90 from the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railway for unreasonable rates charged on shipments of aquariums, under an unusual decision reached by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The shipments were made on May 4, 1927 and March 3, 1928, from Minneapolis, Minn., to Kewaunee, Wis. No carload ratings were applicable at the time of the shipping and a three-times-first class rate of $2.715 per 100 pounds was charged on the first shipment and double-first class or $1.83 charged on the second. These rates were practically 300 per cent higher than the rate of 76 cents per 100 pounds on aquariums established by the defending railroad on February 3, 1929.

The shipments moved over the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha to Merrillan, Wis., Green Bay and Western to Green Bay, Wis., and Kewaunee, Green Bay and Western to Kewaunee, 324.6 miles.

The first carload consisted of 85 crates of aquariums and one crated aldero stone slab, total weight 24,680 pounds. The second consisted of 200 crates of stone slabs, treated as a separate carload and not in question herein and 40 boxes of aquariums weighing 12,350 pounds.

The Kewaunee company asked reparation in the sum of $563.90, which is the difference between the charges paid and those which would have been paid at the second-class rate of 76 cents. The Commission awarded the complainant this amount.

The defending railroad protested the award of reparation on the grounds that the commission has recently declined to give retroactive application to rate reductions voluntarily made by a railroad. The Commission replied that in the Kewaunee case, the rates were so terrifically different before and after the reduction that it must alter its custom. At the rate charged the carload revenue received by the railroad was $2.08 on the first shipment and 69.6 cents on the second, while at the present rate the earnings would be 58 and 47 cents, respectively.

Farm land values are becoming stabilized in Iowa after a decade of depression. Mark Thornburg, state secretary of agriculture, revealed. The population of Java, S. D., has increased from 527 to 529 since 1920, the census has disclosed.

This Day In Memory Of—

MEMORIAL-DAY is in tribute to those gone, to the good they gave, when here on earth, to the sweeter world we have, because they lived.

It is a day of Reverence, and yet of Rejoicing—for having had them and having what their life contributed, which is greatly more than Memory.

It is a day of Rejoicing, knowing their Reward is granted, that Perpetual Reward which is so Bountiful, so Gleaming, so joyful and so Endless.

And as we bow in Prayer this day, as we stoop to place the wreath upon their Bed, as we hear the Echo of the Drum and Bugle, and the Boom of distant Cannon—we indeed have reason to Rejoice, with the deeper meaning which Memorial Day holds.

JIMMY JOHNSON IS HOT, BOBBY JONES SAYS AFTER MATCH

BY O. B. KEELER

For the Associated Press

St. Andrews, Scotland.—(AP)—Five minutes after Bobby Jones' match with Jimmy Johnson I asked Bobby what in his estimation had happened.

"Nothing happened except that Jimmy put on a great comeback," said the American open champion. "I played all I had. I gave him one hole, the fifteenth. He took the rest. His birdie fours at the long fourteenth and at the road hole, the toughest golf hole in the world, were the most brilliant golf under pressure I ever saw."

"I left myself an eight foot putt at the home green for the match. It was the longest eight foot putt I ever saw. I was never happier to see one in the can. If I had missed that putt I am morally certain Jimmy would have gotten me. You know how it is when a chap gets his tail up. He can do anything and you can't stop him."

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Johnson indeed walked together and sat together back of the greens very amiably all through the battle. I came upon them seated back of the fifth green. They looked perfectly friendly so I said:

"I see you girls have not begun fighting yet."

Betty Johnston looked up at Mary Jones with a smile.

"Why, we're going to Paris together as soon as this cruel war is over," she replied.

So that was that.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

HARRY pressed a small white box in Sue's hand as he left. "It's yours. A brotherly gift this time," he said.

Sue opened the box on the street car, riding down to Sarah's, and found what she expected. The emerald smiled back at her. She put it in her pocketbook and remembered tales she had read of stones that brought disaster to those who possessed them. Barbara had borrowed this one and the resulting engagement ring had been unpleasant. Then Clifford Becker had given the musician his violin if he would steal it so he could pay gambling debts with the money it would bring.

Its deep green surface held treachery and doubt. Emeralds were unlucky stones. She would put it away, and some day, when Corrinne and Harry were married and sensible, they would laughingly accept it again.

Rose lamps were making pools of liquid color over the gay cushions and draperies in Sarah's rooms, and Sarah herself sat by the fireplace and . . . Sue looked closer. Yes, it was Ted who was with her. The door into the hall had been open and they had not observed her. She decided that she wouldn't stay. She would go around the corner to the sandwich shop where they had eaten the night before and telephone Sarah that her plans had been changed. Three could change. Heaven itself into a committee meeting. Parades were intended for two.

After the call Sue went home, ate dinner, and then, seized with a sudden desire for Grace's consoling chatter, ran over to her house. She hadn't told her that Harry was going to enter the Merryman family in another day.

When Grace heard, her green eyes grew narrow and she shook her head. "I'm not worrying about you, Sue. The fat lad never raised your temperature any. And Harry still believes that old marriages have forever and ever endings. But it's Corrinne. She can't be sure yet . . . But why did she fall for him, unless it's money! If she's going to try a gold-digging stunt she prospected for a good mine."

Words of Corrinne's, said months ago, when she had laughingly insisted that she could play the game shrewdly, came back to Sue. Then she remembered the tense, wide light in her eyes when she had spoken of Harry. No, Corrinne was sincere, she told Grace.

"I'm going to have a church wedding," Grace suddenly changed the subject, eager to talk about her own dreams and ambitions. "Just a small one at the little old brick church down the street. And it's four weeks from Wednesday night. I'm sending out the invitations real soon. And Sue, you'll be bridesmaid, won't you? And then we're going away . . . She paused and the shadows of the green eyes made them gray and purple as though dreams gathered and made a glamorous haze. There was something a little softer, less crusading about Grace now, Sue reflected. She had dropped the wise philosophy which had been a cloak, so the world wouldn't know when she was hurt. She didn't need it. She was marrying the man she loved.

Down the street Sue saw Jimmy coming . . . Jimmy who had played in her sandpile and slid down her cellar door . . . Sarah and Ted, Grace and Jimmy, Corrinne and Harry, Jack and Barbara . . . this time she left herself out of the group.

As she came slowly down the street, she noticed a car parked in front of her own home. The street light fell across its gaudy signs, flamboyant as a circus poster, with red and yellow and green. Sue knew it belonged to Bob.

How she wasn't surprised to find Corrinne sitting there talking to him.

Kaukauna News

SENIORS PLEASE LARGE AUDIENCE WITH CLASS PLAY

Huge Crowd Attends Presentation of "Nothing but the Truth"

Kaukauna—Seniors of the high school gave a pleasing performance of their annual class play, "Nothing but the Truth," before a huge crowd at the high school auditorium Thursday evening. All characters were especially well adapted to their parts and carried them in a professional style. The embryo actors were coached by Miss Cecilia Calvy, dramatics teacher, who successfully staged the "New Poor" earlier in the year.

The play opened in the office of Roland Beyer, as E. M. Ralston, high pressure bond salesman, who literally talked persons into buying valuable securities. Robert Driessen, as Dick Donnelly, worked for Ralston selling bonds. Donnelly was fast becoming a smooth salesman but Bennett progressed slowly because he hated to misrepresent the value of bonds in order to sell them.

He was the mark of open criticism by both his fellow workers and boss. Bob had been trusted with $10,000 by his girl, Gwendolyn Ralston, the boss' daughter, played by Miss Alice May Whittier, which he was expected to invest and double in a week. The boss claimed that Bob could not tell the actual truth for 24 hours and bet him $10,000 to back his statement. Donnelly and Clarence Van Dusen, customer, as Jule Huebner, were also in on the wager.

They immediately made Bob's condition difficult by asking him questions in order to have him tell a lie. He also lost sales for the firm by telling what he thought about stocks being sold.

Misses Alice Bagie and Alice Skalmusky successfully played the parts of two gold diggers, Mabel and Sabel. The part of a mother of Gwendolyn and wife of Mrs. Ralston was easily carried by Miss Olga Mielinski. Kenneth Gerharz played the part of Bishop Doran, who was easily surprised at the outrages committed by modern society. The part of a demure little maid, Martha, was acted by Miss Lucille Courtney. Miss Geraldine Hintz was well fitted to the part of a society lady as Miss Jackson.

The second and third acts took place in the home of Mr. Ralston. Benton was having a hard time telling the truth but managed to do so to win $10,000 and the boss' daughter.

Members of the production staff were composed of Ferdinand Schaeffer, stage manager; Ray Paschen, assistant stage manager; Charles Schaeffer, business manager; Kenneth Gerharz, property manager; Olga Mielinski, Alice May Whittier, and Alice Bagie, assistants; Mrs. C. Runte, make-up; music by high school orchestra.

CONGRESSMEN OF STATE TO DECIDE ON RADIO MERGER

Next Meeting of Badger Delegation Is Called for June 5

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Wisconsin congressmen will be called upon June 5 to decide whether or not to support what is said to be "the first attempt on the part of a state to obtain and safeguard radio facilities for the general educational function of the state, and to prevent the monopolization of the radio resources of the country entirely by private interests."

A second meeting of the delegation has been called by Rep. James A. Bennett, chairman of the delegation, to consider whether or not the congressmen will unite to support the proposed consolidation of two state-owned radio stations, WHA, University of Wisconsin, Madison, now operating on 750 watts power with 940 kilocycles frequency and WLB, Stevens Point, State Department of Agriculture and Markets, now operating on 1,000 watts power with 900 kilocycles frequency.

The two stations have united in applying to the Federal Radio Commission for permission to consolidate, using 5,000 watts power and 900 kilocycles frequency, daytime hours only, and to be called WRS—Wisconsin radio station—and to be located a mile and a half south of Wisconsin radio station—and to be located a mile and a half south of Hancock, or 24 miles south of the present station at Stevens Point.

Unexpected and vigorous opposition was met when Prof. Edward Bennett of the University of Wisconsin, the radio engineer who is technical advisor of the university station and Rep. John M. Nelson of Madison, sought the united support of the delegation for the project.

Rep. Edward E. Browne of Wausau opposed the merger because Stevens Point people do not wish to see the station moved from their vicinity. Prof. Bennett pointed out that a powerful station must be located in a thinly populated area and that Hancock, where the state owns a 120-acre experimental farm, was found to be an ideal location.

CLAIMS LOWER COST It would cost $2,400 a year less to operate the station at Hancock than at Stevens Point, he said, because the studio is to be at the University of Wisconsin and the programs must be telephoned over a leased wire to the transmitter, the charge for this service being $12,900 a year to Stevens Point and $10,500 to Hancock. Because neither the university nor the markets station, with its present power, can reach the entire state, Prof. Bennett said, the university residents and the agricultural commissioners decided to pool their interests and seek one big station that could broadcast educational programs throughout the Badger state. At first, because there was not enough money to lease a longer telephone wire, they thought of locating the station at Morrisville, 17 miles above Madison, but upon complaint of farmers about Stevens Point, a hearing was held, and eventually more money was authorized so that the Hancock location could be used.

Pointing out that the Department of Agriculture and Markets, the University of Wisconsin, the State Board of Health, the State Department of Education, the Conservation Commission, and the State Highway Commission plan to use the station, Prof. Bennett said in a letter to Rep. Frear, which the congressman transmitted to each member of Congress: "This project should enlist the support of the Wisconsin delegation because it is the first attempt on the part of a state to obtain and safeguard adequate radio facilities for

Asks Reinstatement

The reinstatement to good standing as an attorney of Ole A. Stolen, disbarred Madison and former Dane County Superior court judge, may be requested by the Wisconsin bar commission. He was disbarred four years ago by the supreme court for accepting loans from a man who appeared before his court on liquor cases. He was named state humane officer by Governor Zimmerman, but was not reappointed by Governor Kohler.

The general educational and service functions of the state, and to prevent the monopolization of the radio facilities of the country entirely by private interests."

Only Rep. Henry Allen Cooper of Racine spoke with profound sympathy for this idea when the delegation heard Prof. Bennett last Monday. That question, the 79-year-old dean of the House of Representatives said, is paramount. The others wanted to "support the university" but some of them defended private stations and Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton even attacked "governmental bureaucracies" as sometimes "worse than private monopolies."

The university, Prof. Bennett said, wanted to guard against such a situation as confronted the University of Minnesota, which formerly used a powerful privately-owned radio station for the dissemination of its agricultural information. When agricultural authorities broadcast information about the inadequacy of certain commercial fertilizers, the radio station owners stopped their broadcasting, he said, or at least demanded the right to censor the material used.

A committee of Stevens Point people, headed by J. W. Duncanson, a banker, has asked the right to appear before the radio commission to oppose the project as long as it involves moving the station even as far as 24 miles from the town. It is said that Stevens Point people see in the application a move toward concentrating state radio activities at Madison, which, Prof. Bennett said, was far from the minds of those planning the project.

William J. Eby, Madison publisher who sponsored the ouster suit against Gov. Walter J. Kohler, opposed united action by the congressional delegation, at least pending receipt of further information. He made his wants known in a long distance telephone call to Rep. Frear, chairman of the delegation.

ASSESSOR PREPARES INCOME TAX LISTS

The "bad news" or the list of the amounts of state income taxes which must be paid by residents of Outagamie Co. is being prepared this week in the office of Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes. The list will be turned over to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, on June 1 and persons desiring to pay their taxes on that date may do so. Miss Ziegenhagen and her staff of assistants, however, will prepare statements as soon as they receive the tax rolls and these statements will be sent through the mails to all persons who must pay a tax. Taxes must be paid on or before July 1.

White Writes On Ferber In Current Magazine

An article describing Edna Ferber's early "news hound" days by William Allen White, famous Kansas editor appears in the current issue of World's Work. The editor tells of the days when he and the author and three other Chicago newspaper workers, George Fitch, humorist, and J. N. Darling and Harry Webster, cartoonists, were the "trained seals" covering the national Republican and Democratic conventions that nominated Taft and Wilson, and later the Progressive convention which launched Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson as candidates. He tells of Miss Ferber's "tooth for food," of the many meals she prepared for her cohorts, and the stimulating conversation she provided. He rates her among the first 10 writers of America, and if gauged by the sales of her books, among the first half of the first five. He considers "Climax" her new book, her best. "It marks high tide for Edna Ferber. It is all that she is, glowing, full of grace and felicity, candid, courageous, unflinching and delightful."

AMERICANS IN TURKEY PUT CAMELS IN SHADE Istanbul — (P) — Ship bartenders complain that American tourists on Mediterranean cruises this year have managed with so few drinks as to put a camel to the blush. The bar steward of one liner said that in the month's voyage from New York he sold 200 drinks to 400 passengers, an average of half per passenger per month. He added that his colleagues on other ships had the same complaint of poor business. They ascribed the condition to the fact that most American travelers to this region have been quiet, elderly people. Fish Fry, Sat. night. Nabe-feld Hotel, Fourth Ward.

Murder at High Tide

by CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: A jade phoenix, the luck symbol of Dan Parados, disappears shortly before Parados is murdered. A mass of conflicting evidence is uncovered as detectives quiz every one on the lonely island estate. Anatole Fluke, a Paris detective, tells of a similar phoenix involved in a French criminal case. It sounds too fantastic to believe there is any connection. Detectives work most of the night in a vain effort to piece clues together. The morning after the murder Fluke finds Parados' phoenix broken in pieces, lying on the dead man's body.

CHAPTER 11
"BUT WE SHALL KNOW"
I STARED at the broken phoenix, then turned to Fluke, who was enjoying my astonishment. "When did you find it?" "But an hour ago. A curiosity brought me to the body." He twirled his mustache. "The curiosity of Anatole Fluke is the greatest of Anatole Fluke, my friend." "Well," I said, "this explains my adventure in the billiard room." "Oui. But do you perceive the significance of what you see?" "That the phoenix is broken?" "Precisely!" That remarkable bird—his sacred talisman. Mrs. Parados has said so. It is stolen. He is killed. It is returned—broken. You see? The one who stole it has the simple mind. Perhaps he hated monsieur. Monsieur is killed—his primitive mind is satisfied, and he returns the goddess—broken."

"You mean that he returned it broken to symbolize Parados' broken life?" "Ah, that is it!" "Doesn't it suggest that le Balafre and Bee did this?" "You assume too much. We do not know who killed him. But we shall know—I assure you of that!" I was on the point of picking the phoenix up when Fluke stopped me. "No, no!" he exclaimed. "M. Samuel will desire to inspect it for the fingerprints."

Samuels came in then and Fluke introduced him to the discovery. "And so, monsieur, we have another little mystery," Fluke finished. "M. Hunt has an adventure for you, also." Samuels inspected the halves of the phoenix with the lens. "Don't see any fingerprints," he said disgustedly. "All right, Hunt. I described again how I had stumbled on Celia and Annersley in the pergola, my experience in the billiard room, and Miss Jahries' departure from Annersley's room." "Annersley—Jahries," Samuels muttered. "Yet they alibied each other. We'll have Miss Jahries in." He pulled the bell rope and Granger appeared.

"Tell Miss Jahries to come," Samuels said abruptly.

Fluke stopped him as he reached the door.

"How is your face this morning?" "Some better, thank you," Granger answered.

"Good. But are you sure that it was the branch of a eucalyptus tree?" "Yes, sir."

"Will you come into the library, Mr. Annersley?"

"Afterwards," I whispered to Caroline.

"Of course, I'll be up on the slope somewhere."

(Copyright, 1930, William Morrow and Company)

Annersley again! unexpected evidence develops when he is quizzed tomorrow.

COLLEGE MORONS
Philadelphia—The colleges and universities of the United States are turning out hordes of morons, suffering from various degrees of arrested emotional and intellectual development, according to Dr. Harry W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina and President-elect of the University of Illinois. He suggests that schools attempt to make gentlemen out of their scholars to get away from their present tendency.

Midwest College Track Stars Here For Annual Meet

WISCONSIN TEAMS EXPECTED TO MAKE ONLY FAIR SHOWING

Denney Enters Same Squad That Copped Big Four Title Last Week

TRACK and field athletes from nine middle west colleges, members of the Midwest Athletic Conference, arrived in Appleton today and this afternoon. Will go through workouts at Lawrence field and compete in preliminary heats in various track events. The tourney here today and tomorrow marks the first time the Vikings have entertained for Midwest schools.

Friday afternoon's program will find entrants from the various schools running qualifying heats in all events where indications are there will be too many men competing to permit handling the race Saturday. Friday night a meeting of coaches is scheduled and at that time other entrants will be scratched leaving only those men competing who are first choice of their various mentors.

Numerous improvements have been made to Whiting Athletic field for Saturday's program foremost among them being the widening and improving of the track. A 220 yard straight away also has been put in but whether it will be used depends on condition of the cinders. The track was just completed and rolled Thursday.

Although little is known of accomplishments of invading track squads from Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, any records that are broken probably will be smashed by representatives of schools in those states. Lawrence squad is strongest among the state schools and even the Vikings haven't touched the Midwest record.

Coach A. C. Denney is entering all the men who competed in the state intercollegiate meet at Waukesha last week, in the Midwest meet. If the boys accomplish as much on the home field as they did on the cinder paths at Waukesha, chances are they will be among the leaders when the finally totals are made.

Ray Brusatt and Howard Pope, the latter one half the Lawrence captaincy, will compete in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, with Brusatt also entered in the broad jump. Paul Fischl and Eddie Rasmussen are looked to run in the quarter mile with Ansorge and several other chumps in the half mile.

Charlie Wolfe, the other half the captaincy is down for the mile and two mile races with Addison Aldrich and Danny Calhoun in the high and low hurdles respectively.

Calhoun will also compete in the pole vault along with Ross Cannon, who also is entered in the broad jump. Aldrich also will compete in the high jump. Other field events will find John Cinkosky in the javelin, Jessup and Krohn in the discus and Schneller and Krohn in the shot put. Other contestants may be entered in events by Coach Denney, in an effort to qualify as many men as possible. The mile relay team will be picked from Fischl, Rasmussen, Bradley, Arthur and one or two other dash men. Each man will run 440 yards in the race.

Fall Of Cubs Big Help To St. Louis Cardinals

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1930

NEW YORK—It isn't any appreciable increase in their power of attack that finds the St. Louis Cardinals occupying the driver's seat in the National league baseball competition today, but it due to the fact that the Chicago Cubs are slipping.

The Cards are little higher in the percentage column this year than they were a year ago, showing that their winning power is just about the same. That should be borne in mind when looking forward to the months of June, July, August and September, which are still a part of the National league schedule.

St. Louis is not as well off as the Cubs were a year ago at this time. The difference between the standings of the two seasons is slight. Hence the Cards' team, which is playing now about two games better than it played in 1929, is still about two games worse off than the Cubs were a year ago.

It is Chicago that has taken the tumble in the western section of the league. The Cubs are five games behind their last year's standing. In the long race to come, five games are not a handicap that cannot be overcome by Chicago, yet the Cubs to gain headway rapidly, must pick up. The Cardinals have beaten them twice for every game that Chicago has won and that is one of the reasons why the champions are growing in their den instead of looking at the world with a bear grin on their faces.

CUBS CAN BEAT CARDS

St. Louis has battered the heads of the Chicago and Cincinnati teams from the start of the year and if it had not been for some show of success against the Cardinals by Pittsburgh, the St. Louis team would be close to .700 in their race, as Washington is in the American league.

It was only a few days ago that St. Louis was sending out an SOS to the National league and then it was agreed to move up games that St. Louis might play double headers on Sunday and thus try to gain popularity at home. Other National league owners agreed to it and now the Cardinals are at the top in the National league and Sam Breadon, who is their principal executive, may be snickering up his sleeve. If he isn't he should be.

Any club owner who agrees to unnecessary double headers on the ground of his rival is tempting fate. If the home team wins two games in one day it leaves a bad taste in the mouths of the visiting players.

St. Louis has a good start now and if the east can't take them into camp, there will be more happiness at St. Louis and events may bring another championship to that city.

CARDS PLAY OVER HEADS

National league men think St. Louis is playing above its speed. That may be true, but once the Cardinals get the habit they may continue to play above their speed. At this moment they are presenting the most compact batting order in the National league.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati are the only other teams in the National that are playing better ball now than they did a year ago, but the improvement at Cincinnati is only scattered.

And now the Giants with a big appetite for a pennant, have traded Crawford to Cincinnati for Allen, outfielder and Pete Donohue, pitcher. It is another group trade, all in favor of the Giants, because it will give them a promising young outfielder.

But the fact remains that St. Louis was smart in getting as many games on their home grounds. This would have aroused a howl in the league 20 years ago, but as one old timer said, "This ain't twenty years ago."

ORANGE TO SEEK THIRD HONORS AT VALLEY TRACK MEET

Wolfram Expected to Make Best Showing Among Appleton Entrants

COACH JOSEPH SHIELDS and his Appleton high school track and field team will journey to Marinette tomorrow morning to compete in the annual Fox River Valley conference meet to be held at the northern city. But unlike last season when the Orange went in quest of and won the conference championship, this season they go as plain competitors hoping to annex enough points to place at least third.

Some mighty good talent from East Green Bay and from Manitowish is expected to beat Appleton out of points that might give the squad better than a first place. Then too, the Orange this season is terribly weak in several of the field events, especially in shot put where one is entered, and it that means points will go by the boards.

Manitowish because of its strength in the middle and distance runs will probably take second place—at least that is the hope. The lake shore school's two runners have been knocking off the quarter, half mile and two mile honors with regularity this spring and there is little or no reason to believe they won't do it again at Marinette. Oshkosh high will bid heavily in at least two field events and the remaining schools in the meet will be also rivals.

Indications are that Appleton's entrants won't take many first places, but they certainly should take enough seconds and thirds to help out. Wolfram is the best bet in the 100 yard dash and 220 and he has an even chance of annexing firsts. He also is entered in the broad jump. The only other Appleton man expected to score very heavily is Warren Batley who runs the quarter and half mile.

Coach Shields is taking a squad of about 14 men north with him to give as many as possible a chance to earn letters. Winning even a single point in the meet will give the youngsters the coveted "A". After Saturday's exhibition the squad will name a 1931 captain and disband for the season.

LAMERS PRIMES PAPERMAKERS TO BEAT BAYS SUNDAY

Marty Hopes to Show Home Folks a Winning Club on Local Appearance

Kimberly—Local interest in the coming game with Green Bay has reached its high point. And after the great brand of baseball the Papermakers played last Sunday when they defeated the heavy hitting, loop leading Neenah-Menasha team, the fans seemed to have regained a little confidence in Marty Lamers' ball tossers and every thing warrants a full house for the Little Chute open air auditorium. Due to the fact the Kimberly park's infield is being moved back about 20 feet the game which was to have been played at Kimberly will be played at Little Chute.

A win for Green Bay Sunday will be the two teams for collar position. This is the first year that the Kimberly-Chute have ever been there and naturally Green Bay has no desire to stay there either. So when the two teams romp out on the field Sunday each will be prepared to give the fans the best base ball team play.

Two years ago when Kimberly won the league championship, Green Bay was the only team that could beat Kimberly and last year the Papermakers took almost every game from the Bay team.

Marty Lamers' claim to have something up his sleeve and when Sunday comes around the fans may see one or two new faces in the Kim-Little Chute line up. The team has been out every day this week hitting the apple with a confidence that will make the pitchers of the league open up their eyes.

POWER CO., FOX RIVER ARE BEATEN

Four Way Tie in American League After Thursday's Games

AMERICAN LEAGUE		W. L. Pct.
Power Co.	3	1 .750
Telephone Co.	3	1 .750
Tuttle Press	3	1 .750
Coated Paper	3	1 .750
Machine Co.	2	1 .667
Fox River	1	2 .333
Petts	1	2 .333
Chair Co.	0	3 .000

WEEK'S RESULTS

Telephone Co. 15, Petts 12.
Chair Co. vs. Machine Co. postponed.

Coated Paper 8, Power Co. 7.
Tuttle Press 3, Fox River 2.

The leadership of the American softball league became a free for all proposition Thursday evening when the Coated Paper company bumped off the Wisconsin Michigan Paper company 8 and 7 and the Tuttle Press defeated the Fox River Paper company 8 and 7, making four teams tied for the top rung.

The victories Thursday night along with the Telephone company's win Wednesday night leaves the Telephones, Power company, Pressmen and Coated Paper all grouped with three victories and one defeat. In short, the league race looks like anyone's old ball game.

Too many errors led to the downfall of the Power company, according to reports, errors being fatal when playing a club as strong as the Coated aggregation.

The Tuttle Press won over Fox River Paper was a thrilling duel, the losers getting but one safe blow off the pitching of Bill Gresenz. The Pressmen took a two run lead in the initial inning but were forced to battle down to the last ditch before making the victory slick. A rally by the Fox River gang in the ninth inning almost tied the count.

Newark, N. J. — (AP)—Jack (Kid) Berg, England, stopped Al Delmont, Newark, (1).

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

DICK SHIKAT, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world in New York and some other states, recently beat Steinko and Dusek and seems to be willing to take on any manner of man... Meanwhile, Gus the Goat Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world in several other states and way points, seems to be picking a Strancker Lewis as his favorite opponent... Lawson Robertson, head coach of the United States Olympic team of 1928, picks either Stanford or Southern California to win the I. C. 4-A track and field meet at Cambridge the last of May... which makes it unanimous... The winner at Poughkeepsie will be the crew that can paddle faster than the Yale eight, say wise observers of the shell game... John J. McGraw thinks Gabby Street has done wonderfully well with the Cardinals this year, and is going to do even better before long... So do we.

MEMORIAL DAY MARKS FIRST BIG STEP IN MAJOR LEAGUE RACE

"Mid-season" Period Arrives With Most Teams Hitting on All Nine

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The first big holiday of the baseball season, Memorial day, is in many ways the first real test of the season. Coming in the middle of the second month of play, it marks the turn into that part of the campaign known as "Mid Season."

By this time, the teams have had time to stretch out, and the tangled affairs of the start, even to play off a good many of the games postponed because of the early season weather; the slow starters have had an opportunity to hit their real stride, and they all start down the long back stretch of the pennant race in the part of the struggle which counts the most.

The standings today being promise of two fine races in the major circuits with the National League contenders probably more closely matched. The Brooklyn Robins and St. Louis Cardinals came up to the mile post tied for the lead as the result of yesterday's one game. The Robins overcame a half-game deficit by beating the New York Giants 4 to 1, while St. Louis was idle.

Holding their Pittsburgh, Chicago, New York and Boston in a close group, the Braves just three games to the lead, while the other two, Cincinnati and Philadelphia are not out of touch with the leaders.

Brooklyn found a two-man combination effective in beating the Giants for the sixth time in eight meetings. Babe Herman produced the Robins runs, driving in three with two home runs, while Bill Clark prevented giant scoring by allowing only six hits.

Washington has a clear margin of leadership in the American league, but the champion Philadelphia Athletics are pressing the Senators hard while seven of the eight clubs have averages of .400 or better.

Philadelphia sent the Boston Red Sox deeper into the cellar with a 2 to 1 victory in a pitching duel between Leroy Mahaffey and Milton Gaston, while the Senators again found George Pipgras of the Yankees a bit too tough and lost 4 to 1.

LACK OF PINBOYS HOLDS UP ACTION ON SUMMER LEAGUE

Menasha—Twin city bowlers are ready; Appleton bowlers are anxious, and yet there is a missing factor that may hold up the summer league on the Mendy recreation alleys. Pinboys can't be found.

Great interest was shown at the announcement of a summer schedule, to be rolled on Monday evening, and many teams announced their intentions of participating, but the call of the golf courses seems to take all of the eligible pin setters time.

Since the league will only operate one night a week, however, it is expected that the opening date will produce sufficient boys to rack up the maples.

FOUR CIVIL WAR VETERANS REMAIN IN NEENAH POST

Ranks Are Not Thinned During Past Year—Five Members in Menasha Post

MALAUFI IS BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL

Must Stand Trial on June 11 on Charge of Obtaining Money Falsely

Neenah—William Malaufi, formerly of Neenah, was bound over to appear June 11, following a preliminary examination Thursday in Municipal court on a charge of obtaining $461.65 under false pretenses. The alleged offense was committed in the fall of 1928 and the warrant was issued a year ago.

Judge Goss denied a motion for dismissal, presented by S. L. Spengler, defense counsel, holding that the evidence introduced raised a jury question.

Malaufi was arrested on complaint of Lyman J. Miller, Menasha, who purchased a house from him. Miller alleged Malaufi represented that there was no debt against the property, but that a bill of $461.65 for lumber remained unpaid.

The defense was based upon a notation on a $1,000 check made out by Malaufi's wife. The notation specified that the check was to cover the bill on the house sold to Miller, in the name of F. S. Durham, of the Durham Lumber Company of Neenah, however, testified the notation was not on the check when it was delivered to him. He declared that there was nothing specified as to any particular account. Malaufi owed the firm considerable money on lumber for several houses, he said.

Mrs. Malaufi, called by the defense, testified she placed the notation on the instrument at the time she wrote it at request of her husband.

But if the notation, which cannot write. The defendant himself had testified as to the notation. It was on the basis of the testimony of these witnesses, in contradiction to Mr. Durham's testimony, that Mr. Spengler asked for a dismissal.

FINGERPRINT RECORD KEEPS MANY A MAN FROM FEDERAL JOB

One Out of Every Ten Applicants Proves to Have Been Arrested

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—One in every 10 persons who go to work for Uncle Sam under civil service turns out to have a police fingerprint record.

That doesn't represent all the applicants who have minor police records because in many states fingerprints are not taken unless a felony has been committed.

It doesn't include the prohibition enforcement service because applicants for prohibition jobs who have criminal records are weeded out before they reach the appointment stage.

Four thousand out of 10,000 applicants for prohibition jobs, after passing all other examinations, have been barred because the Civil Service Commission, after investigation of their characters, found them morally unfit. Advance announcement of the character test may have prevented the proportion from being much larger.

These figures are Uncle Sam's own. Just ask the Civil Service Commission. In 1929 only one person in every 13 selected for federal jobs by the appointing officers was found to have a fingerprint record. But in the first 10 months of the fiscal year 1930 such records have been found in more than 10 per cent of cases.

"BAD ACTORS" OUSTED

That's no reflection on the government's army of incumbent employees although it emphasizes the importance of the commission's character tests and fingerprint studies. Nor should it be supposed that all persons found to have such records are permitted to stay in the federal classified service. If the record is bad enough the Civil Service Commission may after the appointee has been sworn in, refuse to consummate the appointment and remove him.

With more than 250,000 examinations for federal jobs every year and only between 40,000 and 50,000 appointments the commission has to hold up its fingerprints until after an applicant has been placed on the job. To fingerprint all applicants at the outset would be five times as large a job. The prints of new appointees are checked with police records in their own communities and with the great file at the Department of Justice in Washington. More than 50 per cent of such jobs are in the postal service.

MAY LIVE IT DOWN

A court record is not in itself enough to bar one. The commission may decide that the offense was trivial or that the person has lived it down. But if the applicant is found to have had about his police record in his application he is likely to get short shrift.

The commission checks the fingerprints within a few days after the appointment so that a man with a bad criminal record, entering under the present system, has little chance of keeping a federal job.

Incumbent federal jobholders have never been fingerprinted en masse and the system is so recent that only a small minority has gone through that test, but in special cases — such as unsolved postal thefts — employees are often fingerprinted as part of their examination. When the commission decided to weed out applicants for temporary Christmas rush employment in the New York postoffice it reduced mail losses by 50 per cent. One man who had denied having any court record was found to have been arrested 27 times.

THE CHAIRMAN'S VIEWS

William C. Deming, chairman of the commission, wants an appropriation to enable the commission to fingerprint applicants before they reach the appointive stage. Prohibition enforcement applicants were fingerprinted as part of their examination because Congress provided the money for it, but they're only a small section of the classified service.

"The results of our character investigations have been startling," Deming says. "It is evident that the worst crook may sometimes be able to give a very good account of himself in a written mental test. When an applicant is submitted not only to fingerprinting but to a searching personal inquiry among his associates, neighbors and employers, there is little chance of covering up a bad record."

WHAT RECORD SHOWS

In the 1929 fiscal year 42,133 persons were fingerprinted by the commission and 3296 were found to have records. More than a thousand cases involved only intoxication, disorderly conduct, traffic and city ordinance violations, but there were 106 cases of law violations listed, including about every crime known.

There were 30 cases of murder or homicide, 224 of larceny, 122 of liquor violations, 25 of breaking and entering, 89 of burglary, 29 of embezzlement, 20 of forgery, 27 of drunkenness, 35 of criminal assault, 75 of robbery, 144 of arrests as suspicious persons, 20 of vagrancy and so on.

NINE RULES AND THEY'RE ALL FREE

San Francisco — How to keep a husband, in nine chapters, is told by the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Here the rules are: Dress prettily for breakfast. Get your husband to take you out two evenings a week but let him stay home the rest. Pay the household bills before buying new dresses. Never make your husband dry the dishes. Never permit your mother-in-law to visit on holidays. Listen to the husband if he likes the sound of his voice. Ask his advice on everything. Be clinging, but not too clingy. Make him think you're a weak, small creature and he's 9 feet tall with the strength of a lion.

King Will Attend Reopening Of Cathedral In London

BY BATES RANEY
London — (AP) — St. Paul's cathedral will be reopened on June 25, in the presence of the king and queen.

A special thanksgiving service will be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury. There will be 400 clergy in the vast chancel and more than 4,000 persons are expected to make up the congregation.

Restoration has been going on for seventeen years, half the time originally required to build Sir Christopher Wren's architectural and engineering masterpiece. Nearly $2,000,000 has been spent on the repairs and for five years parts of the cathedral have been closed as unsafe.

The huge church was built at a cost of $20,000,000, raised largely by a tax on coal entering the port of London. Its foundations are only four and a half feet deep. Beneath them are six feet of earth and below that a bed of wet sand twenty feet deep.

The dome alone weighs 65,000 tons. It is supported by eight hollow piers and in the course of the centuries it has tilted dangerously, almost six inches out of plumb. That movement has not entirely ceased, but the building is now considered safe.

Most striking sight in the renovated cathedral is the glitter of mosaics which had been dimmed by the footsteps of worshippers through the centuries. But while the interior of the massive pile shines in renewed brightness, its exterior is still grimed by the smoke of the coal which furnished most of its original cost.

The building is of Portland stone, which is slightly porous. The soot of London is so ingrained that many experts believe it would be impossible to clean the stone. Others consider that the thick coating of dirt is an excellent preservative. At any rate, it will not be removed.

The great organ, silent since 1925, has been rebuilt and will again peal harmonies from its 4,500 pipes on June 25. Some 300 miles of electric wire were used in rebuilding the great instrument. The largest pipe is on the pedal board. It is 32 feet long, of three inch pine and weighs nearly a ton.

In re-gliding the massive cross atop the dome, 3,000 leaves of pure gold were used. It is all 24 carat leaf, like the gold with which the ancient Egyptians covered their mummies 4,000 years ago. Exposed to London fogs and smoke, the new covering of the cross is expected to hold its brilliance for at least half a century.

The cathedral reputedly occupies the site of an ancient temple to Diana. The first cathedral was started in 1083 under sanction of William the Conqueror. It was damaged by fire in 1135 and not completed until 1300.

In 1561 lightning shattered its high spire and the great fire of 1666 wiped out the first cathedral. Only two years later Sir Christopher Wren started the present structure. "Floating" on its treacherous bed ample ever since to architectural engineers throughout the world.

MANY KINGS MINUS CROWNS RESIDING QUIETLY IN PARIS

Royal Exiles Biding Time, Hoping to Return to Former Glory

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

Paris — Among the vast number of political exiles who have taken refuge in France, the best behaved and least troublesome, from the police point of view, are the royal refugees.

Times have changed. Not so many years ago kings, possible kings and would-be kings could command the surveillance of the best detectives of the surete general, but the high political police now pass up the remnants of royalty abiding in this hospitable land. They are more concerned with foreign exiles of lesser estate but wider influence, whose revolutionary plots against home governments, friendly to France, are threatening trouble.

For that reason the royal refugees are allowed to remain in peace while the police are conducting an extensive check of political exiles to curb the violent factions.

RUSSIA'S "CAZAR" THERE

The royal array, resident in this country, is far from being an impressive menage. Grand Duke Cyril has proclaimed himself czar of all the Russians. He is living quietly on an estate at Saint Brice, near Dinard, and with him is his son, the 13-year-old Grand Duke Vladimir.

Grand Duke Boris, brother of Cyril, lives quietly in the forest of Meudon, a few miles from Paris.

They represent Russian royalty in a most peaceful manner while the police have been working feverishly for many weeks to solve the mysterious disappearance in Paris of General Koutepoff, White Russian military leader, who is believed to have been kidnapped by Soviet agents.

LAST THRONE FOR LOVE

From time to time Prince Carol, father of the boy King Michael of Rumania, who forewore all rights to the throne when his love affairs became complicated with politics, emerges from his quiet villa in Neuilly, a Paris suburb, with a manifesto about his intentions if called back. But nothing seems to get done about it either way and the chief trouble that Carol has caused the police here has been protecting him from newspaper photographers.

Then there is, as a resident of France, His Royal Highness Don Jaime de Bourbon. He is not only pretender of the Carlist party to the throne of Spain, but is also considered by a small but highly aristocratic party in France known as the "White Royalists" to be the only logical contender to the non-existent French crown because of his direct descent from Louis XIV. He is a quiet, unassuming person, well past middle age, occupying a modest apartment. He follows the races closely and enjoys cards.

SPANIARD MISSED CHANCE

Don Jaime has caused no political excitement since 1924, when he was kept under cover by Primo de Rivera in Barcelona at the time of the coup d'etat that caused the dictatorship. If King Alfonso had proven intractable to the new regime, Don Jaime was to have been called. But Alfonso fell in line and Don Jaime returned to France, where he has lived quietly ever since.

Now and again there are whispers that King George II of Greece would like to resume work as the Hellenic sovereign, but even the whispering dies away and George is living in retirement on the Riviera, near Cannes.

PERSIAN ROYALIST CONTENTED

Far from fomenting revolution in an effort to regain his throne, the late Shah of Persia refused to quit Paris and go home when his parliament summoned him. Now there is every evidence that his brother and heir, Prince Mahmoud Moulkar, last of the Qudjar dynasty, will follow his example and not disturb the present ruler, Reza Shah Pahlavi, even if he could. Prince Mahoud is content with his friends here and worships at the local Mohammedan mosque.

Finally there is Abbas Himi, ex-hedive of Egypt, who is living the life of a retired millionaire in Paris, despite the fact that his alliance with Germany at the outbreak of the war was his deposition by the British government. His presence here was quite forgotten until recently when his barber brought up against him for 100,000 francs, which he declared his royal client had promised to pay for a barber shop painting which he had adorned. But even this did not disturb the police at all.

BETTER MEMORIES

Peking — Chinese children have better memories than Caucasians, according to Miss E. T. Chen, native of China who received scientific training in America. She has been conducting a series of tests in the psychology laboratories of Army University and says that the average Chinese youth can look at a printed page for a minute and, without seeing it again, be able to recite the whole page word for word the next day.

FISHING BY EAR

London — Herring fishermen must have good ears for on their hearing depends their catch. The outlook stands in the bow of a boat to locate shoals of herring. He can do this by cupping his hands to his ear. When the fish are running they make a constant "swish" through the water just under the surface. Then the lookout hears this sound the net is shot out and the fish gathered in.

PICK OWN SLEEVES, IS PARIS RULING

Three-quarter Length Pattern Seems to Be Favored There Now

What Paris considers reasonable at the instant is a three-quarter length sleeve, which means that it ends just below the elbow. Is price subjective to quality or quality to price? This case is tried in the court of good business every day. Some business men will always cater to price — others to quality. Is it not queer, however, that the man who does cater to price will profess quality to his customers?

Our motto "Not how cheap but how good — 'The Flavor Tells'."

BLAINE CASTS A SUSPICIOUS EYE ON POSTAL LEASES

Levels Charges of Fraud and Negligence at Postoffice Department

BY FRANK L. WELLER
Washington (AP)—The senate committee investigating postoffice leases has decided to turn the spotlight on, one at a time, the 1,200 buildings it costs the government $15,770,000 annually to use and in which stockholders from coast to coast have $150,000,000 invested.
Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, chairman of the committee, has leveled charges of fraud and culpable negligence at the postoffice department and expressed the opinion that the bonds may have been sold to the public on inflated values.
It is his plan, Blaine says, to scan all the leases and lay aside any that may appear questionable. Once through the list, he will return to the segregated contracts, call witnesses and if their evidence warrants, have it incorporated in a report he expects to make to congress in December.
"We are not," he says, "going to jump into this without a definite program and make the mistakes committed by most investigating committees.

"When we call a witness we are going to have pretty good reason to believe he will have something to tell us. This will be an unimpassioned, businesslike investigation."

The other members of the committee are Senators Hastings of Delaware and Herbert of Rhode Island, Republican "regulars," and Senators Hayden of Arizona and George of Georgia, Democrats.

An indication of the political issue the investigation may become is seen in the charge by Jonett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, that the St. Paul, Minn., commercial station lease which led to the investigation was a "palpable fraud" continued through "three Republican administrations."

Senator Fess of Ohio, Republican whip, just as vigorously denies fraud and collusion.

INVENTOR'S SCHOOL
London—To encourage inventors who have ideas they wish to develop, but are unable to do so because of the lack of financial backing, the Institute of Patentees here has opened up a series of instructions in the art of inventing and patenting inventions. The courses will include intensive scientific instruction.

The Man-in-the-Moon's MEALTIME STORIES

King Fisher sits upon his throne
That's made of grass and moss and stone.
And fishes in the briny deep
For food that's wholesome, pure and cheap.

In this day and age people have learned that you get just what you pay for. Meat is no exception. Cheaply priced meat, of course, means cheap quality. Meat of the highest quality means slightly higher original cost - but less waste, less bone, and less fat - Therefore healthier and more nutritious and so more economical in the long run. Voecks Bros. meat is for people who are glad there is a difference in meat.

SIX WOMEN ARE IN THICK OF FIGHT IN MIDWEST POLITICS

And That, It Seems, Is Answer to Question of Feminine Interest

Chicago—(AP)—Look to the middle west for an answer to the question: "Do women take an interest in politics?"

Six of them, from the cotton country of Texas to the industrial centers of Michigan are out for important offices in a like number of states. A score or more other women will be satisfied with lesser political jobs, state legislature and state administrative posts.

Ruth Hanna McCormick is the republican senate candidate in the republican state of Illinois. Dr. Jennie Calhoun of Omaha is a democratic senatorial candidate in Nebraska. In Texas Mrs. Robert Gunney Lee, widow of a congressman, would take his seat, and in Iowa Mrs. June Finkle of Hastings, a democrat, disputes a congressional post.

Gladys Pyle, South Dakota's secretary of state, is a republican primary candidate for governor with four men opponents.

Old-age compensation will be one of the main talking points of Mrs. Maud Slomum Moross, of Detroit, who seeks the republican nomination for congress from the sixth district.

The opponents the women face this year will test thoroughly their campaigning ability. Mrs. McCormick must face the former democratic senator, James Hamilton Lewis, in November.

Mrs. Lee in a special election must dispute the come-back ambitions of Thomas L. Blanton, of Abilene, a former congressman and a veteran campaigner. Mrs. Finkle, a farmer's wife and a world war nurse, is the minority candidate in a heavily republican district, represented by C. E. Swanson.

Dr. Calhoun, who belied the democrats in 1928, would, if chosen by her party, meet the veteran Senator George S. Norris, who bolted the republicans in 1928.

Virtually all of the four opponents of Miss Pyle know the political alphabet. She, however, passed the primer stage when she became assistant and then secretary of state. The present incumbent, Grant M. Hudson, a dry, and State Senator Seymour H. Person, a wet, will be in the melee against Mrs. Moross.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

Three new children's books, "Marco Polo, Junior," "Cinderella's Garden," and "Grey Maiden," have recently been placed in circulation in the children's room of the public library.

"Marco Polo, Junior" by Harry A. Frank is the story of an imaginary American boy's adventures during more than a year in every part of real China. Youngsters' imaginations will be stirred by the account of his travels in that vast world, romantic and mysterious land.

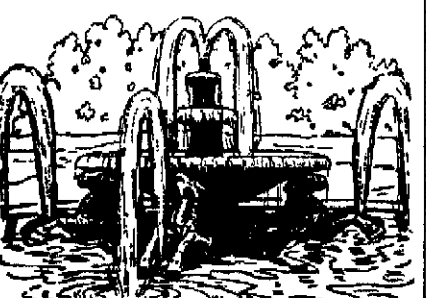

"Cinderella's Garden" by W. M. Dixon on the surface is simply a delightful story for children. The adult finds that it springs from the brain of a kindly philosopher and that it is a gentle yet penetrating satire on human life.

Arthur D. H. Smith's "Grey Maiden" is the story of a sword through the ages. Singing its song of conquest and death, the sword was feared and coveted by all who saw it.

WOULD CHANGE SYSTEM OF SENTENCING GUILTY

Fond du Lac—(AP)—Judges would not impose sentences on convicted persons but the entire disposition of a case after a finding of guilt would rest with a commission of experts if Warden Oscar Lee of the state prison were arranging such matters, he said here.

Warden Lee proposed the plan in answer to a question as to his feeling of the indeterminate sentence, while he addressed the rural normal school here.

249 year-old pipe still in use

IN 1680 Louis XIV of France built the famous fountain of Apollo. Today, water flows to it through the same iron pipes which were installed 249 years ago.

Just as this iron water pipe has served through the centuries, so the purified metal of the Buckstaff Burial Vault will continue to protect even beyond its 99-year guarantee.

The Buckstaff Vault is constructed entirely of purified Keystone Copper Steel. It is non-porous and watertight.

Because of this positive protection, we recommend the Buckstaff Burial Vault. It is in keeping with our policy of providing the best in equipment and service.

Talks To Parents

JERRY'S CONFESSION BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Jerry nagged his mother for candy until she could endure it no longer. She slapped him.

He stopped at once, whimpered and then rubbed his head against her as if he were trying to make friends again. She was sorry she had hit him, but he had been naughty and she did not soften.

A half hour later Jerry sat down beside his mother on the couch and without looking at her said very quietly, "I know some people don't understand why it is that I love them just the same, even when they do things to me. But I do, and it's because if I didn't they wouldn't go on working for me and taking care of me. And then I don't know what I'd do. And I'd be all alone. So I just have to love some people."

His mother admitted then that she was sorry she had lost her temper, but told him he had been naughty enough to deserve some punishment. They made it up then and Jerry went out to play.

Jerry was only six but he stated with amazing insight the case of children. They must accept anything from their parents. They have to love them. They are happier in forgiving them any harshness than in cherishing hates and resentments no matter how justified these may be.

Children need to love their parents not only because of their physical helplessness, their utter dependence, but because to love father and mother is an essential basis for their wholesome emotional growth.

The love which children must feel towards their parents puts upon them the obligation of playing fair. It might not be amiss to consider now and then whether we are making it hard for our children to love us as they need to.

FARM AID ISSUE IN IOWA PRIMARY

Four Candidates After Republican Nomination for U. S. Senator

Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—Agricultural relief has bobbed up as the principal issue among the four candidates for the republican nomination for United States senator at the Iowa primary election June 2.

The winner will oppose Daniel F. Steck, first democrat to represent Iowa in the upper house of congress since before the civil war. Steck has no opposition within his party at the primaries.

The republican campaign has developed largely into debate over the pending Hawley Smoot tariff bill, with Rep. L. J. Dickinson supporting and Gov. John Hammill attacking the measure.

Frank J. Lund and W. O. Payne, the other aspirants, have revived demands for incorporating the equalization fee in the bill.

Dickinson, once dubbed "a hell raiser for agriculture" has insisted that an attack on the Hawley Smoot bill is a repudiation of the president. Gov. Hammill, seeking promotion to the senate after six years as Iowa's chief executive, contends that opposition is not an issue of party loyalty.

Both Dickinson and Hammill have pledged support to the federal farm board.

Besides espousing the equalization fee, Lund, who was Senator

Named to Office

Joseph W. Jackson, Madison, was named district governor of the thirteenth rotary district at the convention in Shelbygan last week.

Brookhart's campaign manager four years ago, has attacked Dickinson and Hammill as reactionaries.

Payne, an old time republican editor, has brought the world court issue to the fore.

Dickinson is the only one of Iowa's 11 republican representatives not seeking re-nomination. Three of the group have opposition within their party and seven will face democratic contests in November.

Three republicans are seeking the nomination for governor with a proposed state income tax as the principal issue.

CHAIN BANKING IS GREATEST MENACE, SCHNEIDER HOLDS

Harms Business and Individual More Than Chain Stores, He Says

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Chain banking is "a greater menace to the independence of business and the individual than the national chain store organizations," Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton declares in a letter sent to the members of the county boards of supervisors in Brown, Outagamie, and Kewaunee counties.

The county clerks of these counties sent the congressman copies of resolutions adopted by the boards expressing opposition to the principle of chain banking and urging legislation to curb or prohibit chain, group, and branch banking.

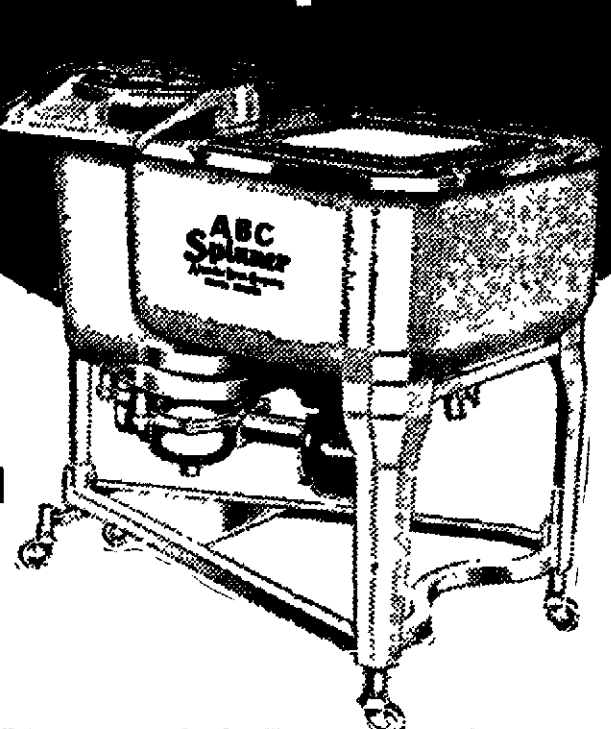

In his reply, Rep. Schneider said: "The subject of bank mergers, chain, and branch banking is at present a great national problem. I have given this considerable study and am fully convinced that the growth of such monopolistic enterprises is a grave evil and a menace to the best interests of our country."

"Investment trusts and holding companies are being organized rapidly and now control many banks and several of the chain bank organizations. These investment trusts and holding companies also control large interests in many of the important industries of the country, as well as several of the national chain store organizations."

"Centralized banking is, I believe, a greater menace to the independence of business and the individual than the national chain store organizations. Both draw money from areas of production to central points."

Rep. Schneider pointed out that the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House of Representatives is now investigating the whole subject and that the Federal Trade commission is investigating chain stores. He pledged his support to legislation to "curb the growth of these monopolies."
